WASHINGTON, June 26th, 1869.

ADVICES FROM CUBA.

Dispatches received to-night from Cuba give further particulars of the fight near Puerto del Padre, between the Cubans under Gen. Marmet and the Spaniards under Gen. Ferrera. The victory of the Cubans was complete. The Cubans captured an extensive train, containing a large amount of provisions, ammunition, clothing and hospital stores. The loss of the Spaniards was over two hundred killed. A number of Americans participated in this fight.

Information is also received that the troops which have been concentrating for some time on the Southern coast, numbering over 1,800 men, have all left for Cuba, and it is believed they have successfully landed.

A MEETING OF PRINTERS.

A meeting of the printers of this city, employed in offices outside of the Government printing office, was held to-night, at which the action of the National Typographical Union, in the Douglas case, was endorsed. An address to the officers of that body was prepared and signed by those present. It is understood that the object of this meeting was to condemn the management of the Government printing office, and to declare that printers retaining positions therein are "rats," on the ground that they have violated the laws of the organization.

THE WAR IN PARAGUAY.

The text of the reply of President Lopez, of Paraguay, to the demand of the allied guard that he should lay down his arms and terminate the prolonged and bloody contest, under date May 24th, is published. Lopez denies the charge that he is guilty of causing unnecessary bloodshed, because he has defended his country against the allied assaults on her. He declares that he is now, as he always has been, disposed to treat for peace on a basis equally honorable to all the belligerents, but is not disposed to hear one word as to the laying down of arms to treat for peace.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President to-day appointed Joh T. Delapin, of New York, Secretary o Legation at Vienna; Wm. M. Wood Surgeon U. S. N., to be Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the Navy Department, in place of P. F. Horwitz.

Dr. Chas. A. Foster has been appointed Collector of Customs for Vicksburg, and Hamilton Layton for the Port of Shieldsboro, on the Gulf Coast of Mississippi. The widow of the late incumbent was an applicant for the latter place and strongly recommended by Senators Harrison and Kellogg, but it was decided by Secretary Boutwell that women are not eligible to such offices.

SUPERVISOR RESIGNS.

Maj. J. J. Noah, Supervisor of Internal Revenue for the State of Tennessee, today telegraphed to Commissioner Delano resigning his position. Maj. Noah is an active supporter of Governor Senter, and relinquishes his official position in order to take part in the Gubernatorial campaign.

COLLECTOR 23D DIST., PA.

Commissioner Delano to-day appointed Robert L. Brown Collector of Internal Revenue for the 23d district of Pennsylvania, and the commission was sent to the President to-day to be signed.

BASE BALL.

The base ball game this afternoon between the Red Stockings, of Cincinnati, and the Olympics, of this city, was stopped by a violent rain storm after the first part of the fifth inniug. The score stood four to nothing in favor of the Cincinnatis. The Olympics were first at bat and made three runs in the fifth inning when the game was called.

DEEPENING THE CHANNEL.

The War Department has official information that the steam dredge Essayons has increased the depth of the channel at Pass L'Outre from fifteen to twenty feet.

REMOVALS.

Among the clerks removed from the loan branch of the Treasury Department this morning was J. C. Walker, formerly Reading Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Severe Storm in Kansas.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LEAVENWORTH, June 26.—A terrible storm prevailed yesterday and last night through the western portion of this State, doing considerable damage.

A special to the Bulletin from Junction says the Kansas Pacific Railroad bridge over Chapman's creek, twelve miles west of this city, was swept away. The railroad bridge over the Republican was still standing this forenoon, but fears were entertained that it would yield to the rising flood. It was the most destructive storm of the season. Trains from the west will probably be delayed a day or two, as the damage to the bridge cannot be repaired until a subsidence of the flood.

The prospects are flattering for bountiful crops throughout the State.

Canadian Independence.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONTREAL, June 26.—A private letter from an eminent Englishman, standing high in the estimation of his government, has been received, in which the writer states Mr. Gladstone and John Bright are strong supporters of Canadian independence. He further says the British Colonies will, within ten years, be required to manage their affairs without resource on the mother country.

A Fatal Affray.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—A bloody murder occurred near Sulphur well, six miles from the city, yesterday. The parties to the affray were John Arnold and James Lowell. After an angry dispute Lowell pulled out his pistol and fired, the ball entering Arnold's heart, producing fatal result. Lowell has fled to parts unknown.

—Gen. Sickles has been tendered and accepted a complimentary banquet by citizens of New York city, to take place on the evening of the 30th.

NEW YORK CITY.

The Cuban Fillibuster Movement—Another Expedition Reported to Have Embarked on the Quaker City—Various Items.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 26, 1869.

The search for Col. Ryan continues, but it is unavailing. Report says the District Attorney expresses a willingness to reduce the bail in the case of the other prisoners. Two other parties, Ralph Herman and Samuel C. Berman, arrested last night, on a charge of being engaged in an expedition against Cuba, have been unable to procure bail, and have been remanded to jail.

Gen. Butler had a long interview with Marshal Barlow to-day, the nature of which has not transpired.

The Herald states positively that a Cuban expedition of about eight hundred men left this port last night under command of Col. W. A. C. Ryan, in person, and accompanied by Col. Currier, Gen. Spear, of Fenian notoriety, Gen. Gisacari, Capt. Peters and other officers. The body of men will be known as the "First New York Regiment," and were presented with a handsome flag by the Junta. The rank and file embarked from Elysian Fields, Hoboken, and from Elm Park, Staten Island, and will be put on board a vessel presumed to be the Quaker City.

The Times states the steamer Quaker City was in waiting for the expedition outside the narrows and the men were to be transported to her. Gen'l Gisacaria is Commander-in-Chief. A number of officers of the late United States Volunteers are in the ranks, to be appointed to positions on arrival in Cuba. The Quaker City has on board five thousand Remington rifles, two batteries of artillery and arms for a brigade of cavalry, with an abundance of ammunition.

The steamer Europa, outward bound for Glasgow, ran ashore in the lower bay this afternoon.

The report that Gen. Alex. S. Webb had been tendered the Presidency of Columbia College is authoritatively denied.

Lieut. H. C. Roebel, of the Saratoga, died at quarantine yesterday of yellow fever. Paymaster Givard and one man were dangerously ill. No new cases are reported.

James W. Barker, formerly an earnest politician, and head of the Grand Council of the Know-Nothing organization in this State, died of paralysis at Rahway, N. J., to-day, aged fifty-three.

Several wholesale liquor dealers have been held to bail on a charge of neglecting to keep a book of entry of receipts and sales as required by law.

The yacht Dauntless sailed this afternoon for Europe.

Miss Julia Tyler, daughter of Ex-President, was married to-day at the Church of Ascension to W. H. Spencer, of Genesee, New York.

The steamer Bavaria, from Hamburg, has arrived.

Yesterday afternoon Edward Hanitzoho, a German clerk, was arrested on a charge of offering for sale four one thousand dollar bonds and twenty-five hundred dollars worth of checks, stolen from the Brooklyn Park Bank in February last. He was locked up for examination.

One of the fifteen gunboats building at this port for the Spanish navy was launched yesterday afternoon and towed to the machine works at the foot of Vestry street, to receive her machinery. The entire number are to be completed by August first.

Yesterday, acting on information obtained by the Treasury Department, the house of Robert Herring, at Malt Haven, was surrounded by police officers. They found and secured Herring and all the paraphernalia in manufacturing counterfeit United States notes. Herring was locked up.

Large Fire in Nashville.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, June 27.—About half-past one o'clock this afternoon a fire was discovered in the second story of Hicks & Houston's china store, corner of the public square. It progressed rapidly, notwithstanding the most active efforts of the firemen, and soon all three stores comprising Hicks' block were in flames. The block was destroyed. Nothing is left of it but portions of the walls. Hicks & Houston lost almost all their large stock of china and other goods; Craighead, Burst & Gibson, hardware dealers, saved a small part of their stock; Farman, Green & Co., wholesale dry goods house, were more fortunate, having removed a considerable portion of their goods. These were all wholesale houses. The block of buildings was four stories high, and the handsomest in Nashville. Mr. Hicks, proprietor of the block, has an insurance on it to the amount of $25,000. Hicks & Houston are insured on stock for $90,000; Craighead, Burst & Gibson, for $50,000, and Farman, Green & Co., $4,000. The loss is estimated at $225,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Railroad Commissioner Morris' Report Denounced.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 27.—The following letter was received here to-day, dated Salt Lake, June 26:

The Ike Morris report on the Union Pacific Railroad is, in all its particulars, a piece of unmitigated nonsense. The Union Pacific is unquestionably the best constructed road, considering its newness, ever built in this country. This is the uniform testimony of all the railroad men in our party.

[Signed,] HORACE WHITE, J. M. CARTON.

Railroad Accidents at Cincinnati.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, June 27.—John Welch, living in the eastern part of the city, was run over by a train on the Little Miami Railroad this morning and killed. The Coroner's jury brought in a verdict censuring the person whose duty it was to give the signal, it having been omitted.

At three o'clock this morning the inward train on the Marietta road struck an omnibus crossing the track at Earnest Station, shattering it beyond repair, killed the two wheelhorses, seriously injured the driver, but merely scratched sixteen passengers inside and on top of the omnibus.

—The Democratic primary elections in San Francisco, on Saturday, resulted in the success of a delegation to the County Convention favorable to McCappin, the present incumbent, for Mayor.

NEWS BY CABLE.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

FRANCE.

BREST, June 25.—Advices have been received from the steamship Great Eastern up to this forenoon. Some difficulty has been encountered, but everything was favorable at last accounts. At noon of Friday the steamer had made four hundred and ninety-seven knots from Brest and paid out five hundred and forty-two knots of cable. At half past four this (Saturday) morning a fault was detected in the communication to the shore. The steamer was instantly stopped and measures taken to localize the fault. This was found impossible, but as the signals soon afterwards became perfect again, it was resolved to proceed, which was done. Signals since, up to this time, continue good.

PARIS, June 26.—M. Schneider to-day resigned the Presidency of the Corps Legislatif, in consequence of the decoration of M. Davids, one of the Vice Presidents. The Emperor has refused to accept the resignation.

PARIS, June 27.—The Emperor has written a letter to M. Schnieder, President of the Corps Legislatif, in which he says the policy of the Government has been made manifest with sufficient clearness to prevent equivocal interpretation. Now, as before the elections, he will continue to perform the task of reconciling strong power with sincerity to liberal institutions. Schnieder's resignation of the Chair of the Corps Legislatif has been withdrawn.

BREST, June 27.—Dispatches from the steamship Great Eastern report that up to noon on Saturday she had made five hundred and seventy-four knots from Brest and had paid out six hundred and thirty-six knots of cable. She was detained three hours on Saturday morning on account of the interruption of signals. The defect in the cable was removed, communications restored and the expedition moved on.

SPAIN.

MADRID, June 26.—There was an exciting debate in the Cortes to day on the policy of the Government towards the Republicans and arbitrary conduct of the civil Government. Sagasta said the Government was bound to punish all unconstitutional manifestations.

MADRID, June 27.—In the Cortes, the Republican members were warned that their presence in the Chamber was permitted as an act of patriotism, but they could not be tolerated as accomplices in the scheme for building up a republic. That the present condition of affairs could not long continue, as it would become necessary to repress the people or anarchy would result.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, June 26.—Evening—The Queen reviewed the guards at Windsor to-day, in honor of the Viceroy of Egypt. There were twenty thousand spectators present, and great enthusiasm manifested.

It is stated to-day that it will cost the Government six and a half millions pounds sterling to purchase the telegraph lines of the country, as contemplated.

ITALY.

FLORENCE, June 26.—The official newspaper contains the following: The country is tranquil everywhere. The attitude of the population and vigilance of the authorities prevent further disturbances.

MILAN, June 26.—The Government has forbidden the circulation of subscriptions for the aid of persons injured in the late disturbances.

SWITZERLAND.

ZURICH, June 25.—In consequence of the order forbidding Mazzini to reside in certain parts of Switzerland, he today departed for London.

Latest News from Cuba.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, June 27.—Accounts have been received from Spanish sources of a fight between government troops, escorting a train of supplies, and rebels, on the road between Puerto Del Padre and Las Tunas. The insurgents attacked the Spaniards and endeavored to capture the train, but were unsuccessful.

Rains were incessant in the interior and vomito is spreading.

Reports have reached Havana that Ex-President Cabral captured the town Azua, on the southern coast of St. Domingo, near which place he recently landed.

Southern Railway Progress.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, June 26.—Bands of music paraded and canons fired all day in consequence of the vote on the Southern Railroad. The vote for the appropriation was pretty full, and it is probable ten for to one against. Returns nearly complete show 15,000 votes for, and 1,500 against the construction of the Southern Railway.

—Joseph Kelley, who was shot at Richmond, Va., on Thursday evening of last week, by Capt. Callahan, died Saturday morning. His death creates much feeling, he having been held by three policemen while Callahan, who had a personal feud with him, shot him. Callahan, who was under bail, was re-arrested.

ST. LOUIS.

Coffee Trade With Brazil—Congressional Committee on Pacific Railroads—Senator Drake on Enfranchising Late Rebels—The Storm of Friday Last—Severe Storm in Nebraska, &c., &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—Rev. J. C. Fletcher, late Secretary of Legation at the Court of Brazil, delivered a lecture last night before the Board of Trade, on the subject of direct trade between St. Louis and Brazil. The lecture abounded in interesting facts regarding the condition and progress of the commercial interests of Brazil; but it especially treated of the coffee trade. The gentleman gave a very entertaining history of coffee, tracing it from the time it first came in use down to the present, and introduced many facts regarding its culture and preparation for market not generally known.

Senators Rice, of Arkansas, and Scott, of Pennsylvania, and Representatives Root, of Kansas, and Morrell, of Pennsylvania, members of the Congressional Committee on the Pacific Railroads, are here, and other members of the Committee are expected in a day or two. They went down the Iron Mountain Railroad yesterday, and on their return will start on a trip over the Kansas Pacific Road, thence to Denver, Cheyenne and Omaha.

General Sherman is also here and will remain several days.

Chas. D. Drake, United States Senator from this State, publishes a letter to the Radical party of Missouri, in which he takes ground against the enfranchisement of rebels until after the ballot is given to the negro, and states that he believes this to be the position of nine-tenths of the party in the State outside of St. Louis.

The storm of Friday last did much damage. Several bridges on Smoky Hill and Republican river have been swept away and a number of lives reported lost. The storm was also very severe in western Missouri. Considerable of the track of the St. Joseph and Council Bluffs road was washed away and three bridges badly damaged. One bridge, on the Hannibal and St. Joseph road, was carried away and trains have been delayed. All the streams in western Missouri and Kansas are very high.

A severe storm occurred in Nebraska on Wednesday. A store at Columbus was blown down and a man named Preston killed. The eating house at Plum Creek was unroofed and considerable Government property destroyed.

A Denver dispatch says the banks in that city have, within the past two months, sold drafts amounting to nearly a half million dollars for the purchase of Texas cattle.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company one hundred and fifty thousand dollars was voted to Henry Patterson, D. R. Garrison, George R. Taylor, directors, and different times officers of that road, for services rendered at various periods since 1861 to the said Company, as set forth in a long document which is published to-day.

—After 24 hours' cessation, it commenced raining again at Chicago on Thursday at noon and continued with scarcely any intermission up to seven o'clock Sunday morning, and during Sunday it was everything at times and nothing long, but in the evening at eight o'clock there were fair indications that the forty odd days' storm was at an end. Should the auguries prove correct, the prospect is that the corn crop for the season will come out all right.

—In the suit of the tax-payers against the Mayor and City Council of Nashville, Chancellor Smith on Saturday rendered a decision appointing John M. Boss receiver and vacating all the city offices. Mr. Boss is required to give a bond for $500,000, which he will do and enter upon the duties of the office. This appointment of a receiver is the result of peculation and fraud on the part of the city authorities tending to bankrupt the city.

—A party of about twenty-five gentlemen from among the principal men of Chicago, including several gentlemen connected with the press, are preparing to leave on the fifth of July on a visit to San Francisco and a number of the principal intervening points, for the purpose of facilitating commercial intercourse between Chicago and the localities with which that city is placed in communication by the completion of the Union and Central Pacific Railroads. The gentlemen expect to be absent a month.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

Public Meeting in Allegheny—Protest Against Locating the Monument in the Cemetery—Resolutions.

Pursuant to a call issued by Mayor Drum, of Allegheny city, at the request of numerous citizens petitioning the same, a public meeting was held Saturday evening, the 26th inst., for the purpose of having an expression of public sentiment relative to the location of the Allegheny county Soldiers' Monument. The meeting was to have been held in front of the city building, but in consequence of the heavy rain which fell about eight o'clock, the hour at which the meeting was called, it was decided to meet in the Common Council chamber, whither the multitude assembled, filling the spacious chamber.

On motion of Mayor Drum, the meeting was organized by calling Jas. Marshall, Esq., to the chair.

The Mayor, at the request of the Chairman, then in a brief manner, stated the object of the meeting. He said that he had received a petition signed by one hundred and seventy-five of the leading citizens protesting against the action of the Allegheny County Soldiers' Monumental Association in locating the monument in the Allegheny Cemetery, and asking him to call a meeting of the citizens, in order that an expression of public sentiment might be obtained in regard to the matter.

On motion of William M. Porter, the following named gentlemen were elected Vice Presidents of the meeting: Messrs. O. O. Phillips, F. R. Brunot, Jas. Caldwell, Capt. Richard Gray, James M. Cooper, James Frazier, John Heath, G. Wettach, James Sewell, Samuel H. Hartman, Dr. Wm. B. Hezlep, Wm. M'Gee, Chas. P. Whiston, W. J. Kountz and Edward Gregg.

The reporters of the press were elected Secretaries.

On motion of Mr. Porter, the following gentlemen were appointed a Committee on Resolutions: Col. Jas. F. Allison, R. D. Thompson, James McCutcheon, H. E. Davis, Jno. Brown, Jr., and John Megraw.

During the absence of the Committee, John A. Myler was called upon, and addressed the meeting briefly. He protested against the action of the ladies having the matter in charge in selecting the Allegheny Cemetery as the location for the monument. As a lot holder in the Cemetery he would enter his protest against it. He would not urge the location of the monument in Allegheny city if a better site could be obtained elsewhere, but he thought it should be so situated that all who desired to visit and look at it could do so at any and all times without being compelled to obtain permits.

Capt. W. J. Kountz was next called upon to address the meeting. He said it would not be in good taste for him to advocate the location of the monument in Allegheny city, as it might be said he was personally interested.

Mr. James McBrier was next called upon, and addressed the meeting briefly. He thought it injudicious to censure the ladies for the action they had taken, as they were doubtless conscientious in their views, and perhaps did not see the matter in the same light that many others did.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

The Committee on Resolutions through their Chairman, presented the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, As citizens of the city and county of Allegheny, we have assembled for the purpose of giving expression to our feelings in relation to the action of those of the incorporators of the Ladies' Monumental Association who took upon themselves the responsibility of designating the Allegheny Cemetery as the depository of the proposed Soldiers' Monument; and, Whereas, Without pausing to discuss the questionable proceeding by which this decision was reached, as citizens of Allegheny, we regret the hasty and injudicious selection of the incorporators in consigning to almost comparative oblivion, the monument intended to be an ever present reminder of the heroism of our fathers, brothers, sons and friends who died that the nation might live. And whereas, custom and common sense suggest as proper places for public monuments, points most accessible and commanding. The hiding of a public monument, such as the proposed Soldiers' Monument, within the high walls of the Allegheny Cemetery, where it can scarcely be seen from the loftiest hills surrounding both cities, remote also from the great bulk of the population, access to which cannot always be had without trouble—is one of those proceedings for which we are wholly unable to account; and whereas, it is not from any selfish motive that we utter this, our protest, against the action of the incorporators, simply because the sites proffered by the Allegheny Park Commission were inconsiderately rejected by the Monumental Association, and declare our readiness to cheerfully acquiesce in any other locotion, combining the necessary requisites of accessibility and prominence; therefore,

Resolved, That this meeting earnestly and sincerely protests against locating the Soldiers' Monument in the Allegheny Cemetery, because, in our opinion, it does not offer a single requisite.

Resolved further, That we sincerely trust that the ladies having the matter in charge, will reconsider their action, and (disclaiming any discourtesy) suggest to them to recognize one important fact, that they represent only a small portion of those whose money was contributed, and also of those who represent the slain heroes whose deeds and memories this monument is intended to perpetuate in this community.

R. M. Morrison, Esq., was called upon to address the meeting, and spoke at considerable length, opposing the action of the Monumental Association in placing the monument in the cemetery.

The resolutions were adopted by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Gregg read the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of the citizens of Allegheny county are hereby tendered to Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Scaife and Miss Galway for the noble and patriotic stand they took against burying the monument along with our fallen braves.

The resolution was adopted and the meeting adjourned.

Assault and Battery.—H. Ebs made information before Alderman Lindsay Saturday, charging Frank Allen with assault and battery. Allen was arrested and committed to jail in default of bail for a hearing.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

First Methodist Church—Sunday School Anniversary.

The First Methodist Protestant Church in Pittsburgh was organized in 1829. The question of lay delegation, or "mutual rights" between the clergy and laity, had agitated the Methodist Episcopal Church for some time, and the reform, then as now, was advanced by some of the leading men in the denomination. In Baltimore several prominent reformers were expelled on account of their persistent devotion to the question, and there remained no other course for them than to organize a new body which should be Methodistic in doctrines and usages, and include in its economy the cherished and scriptural principle of equal rights. The original reformers never intended to found a new sect; they were compelled by the powers in authority to accept such a position. The same question is now thoroughly agitated in the M. E. Church, and her members privileged to vote for that which to advocate in 1828 was sufficient cause for expulsion.

On Wednesday evening, June 24, 1829, after a sermon in the church on Smithfield street, preached by the Rev. George Brown, the members of the church were invited to tarry a short time, when the Rev. Charles Avery was called to the chair, and David Fitzsimons appointed Secretary. The Chairman then stated, in a feeling manner, the necessity of an organization on the liberal principles of lay representation, combining the spiritual and ecclesiastical interests of the congregation who had avowed their devotion to the reform. The first name of this society was the "Methodist Church," and that title was received with favor. The denomination afterwards, however, by General Conference action, became "Methodist Protestant," indicative of a protest against Episcopacy. This distinctive appellative was borne until 1866, when the word "protestant" was officially dropped, and no other distinguishing term substituted, leaving the denomination simply the Methodist Church.

The First Church, Fifth Avenue, is the oldest organization of the denomination west of the Alleghenies, and has always been one of the most influential societies in the church. Its present membership is about three hundred, including some of the leading business men of the city. Its history has been exceedingly interesting, its religious influence in the community equal to that of any other church, its benevolence ready and far-reaching, its pulpit free and outspoken, its welcomes to all classes broad and hearty.

The fortieth anniversary sermon was preached yesterday morning by the Rev. George Brown, D.D., the first pastor, from the words "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation." It was historical in its introduction, the speaker referring to the fathers of this church, departed and surviving, in touching language.

An appropriate hymn, composed for the occasion by the present paster, Rev. Alex. Clark, was sung as part of the morning service.

The exercises of the Sabbath were most impressive. The other congregations of the denomination in the city were largely represented, and all the pastors of the various charges were present.

The Sunday School Jubilee at two o'clock P. M. was a grand affair. The audience was immense. The children occupied the body of the church, and the adults principally the gallaries. Prayer by Rev. Wm. Evans. The singing, under the direction of Mr. E. E. Rinehart, the chorister of the Church, was most excellect. Seldom have so many voices so accurately sung together. The expression, too, was distinct and the feeling enthusiastic and hearty. It was a rich feast of sacred song, and no wonder the people all rejoiced. The children were addressed most appropriately and happily by J. D. Herr, A. M., Dr. Scott, and Mr. Rine. The singing circle, hand in hand, from pulpit to vestibule, with Dr. Brown in the center at the pulpit, in the closing hymn, was very beautiful and impressive.

The communion services on Sabbath evening introduced by the Rev. C. Springer, former pastor, in a brief and appropriate address which evinced much feeling and tenderness. A very large number of persons participated in the ordinance, perhaps the largest number that ever communed in the church at any one time.

The Sabbath exercises throughout were deeply impressive, and will result in much spiritual good to all who were present.

The South Side City.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted at a public meeting held in the Town Hall, Birmingham, some two weeks since, relative to the consolidation of the south side boroughs into one municipality, the Chairman, Justice Salisbury has appointed the following Committe to define the boundaries of the proposed new city, arrange a plan of adjustment of the reported indebtedness of the several boroughs proposed to be consolidaten, and attend to such other duties pertaining to the accomplishment of the object desired, as may be necessary:

South Pittsburgh—J. H. Roberts, John Murry, Miles S. Humphreys, William Lorentz.

East Birmingham—August Ammon, Terrence Campbell, David Chess, Henry Estep.

Ormsby Borough—William Atkinson, Hugh Lafferty, William Smolze, John Lutz.

Birmingham—E. G. Krehan, D. O. Cunningham, George Duncan, James Salisbury.

Lower St. Clair—John Nusser, Charles Forester, George Goldbauch.

The above Committee will meet at the Council Chambers, Birmingham, at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, the 1st proximo.

EVENING SHADOWS.

Surely the day is done!
'Tis set of sun.
Long fall the shadows from the snowy hills;
Not yet have waked the sleepy little rills:
But softer air
Floats everywhere—
Although the day is done.

Ah, yes! the day is done!
And one by one
The ghosts of starlight flit across the sky:
In-doors, the fire-elves on the carpet lie.
Tired of play,
The children say,
Because the day is done.

We know the day is done!
Our feet have run
Unresting in the path that Duty made,
Treading on thorns, of danger not afraid,
And rest is sweet
Though night-hours fleet,
And day again comes on.

The day of life is done!
And set the sun!
Eyes dim to richest lights that earth can show
Ears heedless, though entrancing music flow,
And marble brow
Unwrinkled now;
Indeed the day is done!

But is the day not done!
And set the sun?
When seas of amber light transfuse the air,
And Paradisal flowers bloom everywhere?
O'er purple hills
The sunrise thrills.
Heaven's day is just begun!

—Muzio is conductor of the orchestra in the new Vice-regal Opera House at Cairo.

—New York thinks of a musical jubilee that will startle the world and make Boston miserable.

—The motto adopted with the new coat of arms by the Territory of Wyoming is "Let us have Peace."

—Fourteen English mechanics are on their way to this country for the purpose of entering the Cornell University.

—The Boston Post says the fine weather of last week came very pat for the Jubilee, but the rain of yesterday came patter.

—In Zanesville, a few days ago, a pile of boards, on which a little girl named Kreuter was playing, upset and killed her.

—The potato bugs in Indiana haven't as yet realized that they are potato bugs, and so have taken to eating up the apples.

—A child has been born in in Spain, on the surface of one of whose eyes is imprinted the exact resemblance of a watch dial.

—An exchange says the marriage of Rochefort, of La Lanterne, with Madame Mainz, of that city, is on the Brussels carpet.

—In New York quite an extensive business is carried on by men who can Delaware sturgeon and sell them as canned Kennebec salmon.

—Velocipedes and balloons are among the locomotive vehicles provided for the amusement of the people of Hamilton, Ohio, for the glorious Fifth.

—A firm in Chicago has made arrangements to receive regular consignments of grapes, when the season for that fruit arrives, from Napa, California.

—On Friday last a man named Wandell died at Troy, N. Y. He was ninety-eight years old, and had been present at Wayne's capture of Stony Point and at the execution of André.

—Six hundred and seventy-four carriages were counted going out of one gate of the new Fairmount Park in Philadephia, between the hours of five and seven on Thursday evening.

—The Germans of Cincinnati have their Sunday festivals and nobody says anything against them or seems to think of prohibiting them from spending that day as they have been accustomed to.

—At Cartago, in South America, the supreme beauty of the women is found in their hair. This is dark and silky, and is worn in two pendants, braided for one-third of the length, then loose one-third, and ending in a curl.

—A Boston journal announces that electricians from New York, during the Peace Festival, tampered with the batteries which connected the guns with the Coliseum, but their schemes were discovered in season to prevent any blundering effects.

—W. T. Davids, a farmer living in Jasper township, Fayette county, Pa., was replanting corn in his field, one day last week, when one of his two assistants dug up a root which he supposed to be ginseng. They all chewed of it, and in two hours afterward Mr. Davids died in great agony.

—On Thursday of last week a Swede named Edbery, at Rockford, Illinois, was sawing wood with a common buck-saw, when a little dog ran out barking at him, so startling him that he fell over a log, striking his temple against a stick of wood, from the effects of which he died in a few hours.

—A Boston paper announces that the original Mary, who had a little lamb, has died at the age of ninety-five. We might also state the original little Jacky Horner, who sat in a corner extracting plums from pies, swallowed those plums, stones and all, and has been a martyr to dyspepsia ever since.

—The Philadelphia North American says: The entire journey round the world can now be made in eighty days, schedule time, and all the way by rail except one hundred miles in India, across which a railroad is rapidly being built. This statement must be exceedingly pleasant to those believing in the veracity of the old North American, who have been hitherto sufferers from seasickness in going around the world.

—We see by our exchanges that Pittsburgh has the cholera. We don't believe it ourselves, but think that if a little attention to the laws of health and cleanliness could be enforced, in certain portions of the city, we might have some chance of escaping that disease altogether this year. As long ago as last January, we prophecied an unhealthy summer, but we are more than willing to be proved false prophets.

—The famous nine of the "Red Stocking" base ball-club, of Cincinnati, would be the equally famous nine of the Olympic or Osceola of Pittsburgh, or indeed of any ball club in the country which would pay them more than they get from the club which at present employs them. They are men who practice the profession of base-ball for a living. The hiring of a set of these men insures fine games to look at, and also gives an impetus to the abstruse science of betting, but we think it adds little to the pleasure, the muscular development or the moral elevation of the amateur members of the club. We are glad to learn that one at least of our foremost Pittsburgh clubs honestly depends on the absolute merits of its regular members and refuses to hire any professionals at all.

Mr. Dorsey, of Pawtucket, has provided, in his peculiar and eccentric liberality of manner, a fresh entertainment for the convicts of the Connecticut State Prison. The Hartford Post says:

On Saturday, Captain Willard, the Warden, received by express, a basket, containing "five loaves and two small fishes"—a donation for the convicts. On examination, it was found that each of the fish had attached to it an uncut sheet of greenbacks, amounting to five dollars, and similar sheets were found in each of the loaves. Across the face of the notes was printed with a brush, in large letters, "bread," and on the back the following endorsement in letters of bronze: "H. C. Llewellyn Dorsey, sign painter ('to the King,'") Pawtucket, R. I.—Pharaoh Cloths, Ten Dice Cloths, Sweat Cloths and Roulette spreads always on hand and painted to order. Reference, Squire Sleeper, at the foot of Thirteenth street, Revelation City." By the evening mail came a letter purporting to contain "the twelve baskets of fragments taken up," which amounted to a sum sufficient to provide a generous entertainment for the whole of the inmates of the prison. The plan of the donor for the entertainment was somewhat unique, but some modification was deemed proper, and the affair will come off on Thursday afternoon, substantially as designed by Mr. Dorsey. The prisoners will be furnished with an amply supply of strawberries and a generous collation enlivened with music, and it is designed to make the occasion a pleasant one to all concerned. It is the wish of Captain Willard to secure the attendance of the members of the General Assembly, and an invitation to that end has been extended.

Of the nominations, the Philadelphia North American says: General Geary is a veteran soldier of two of the most glorious wars of the Republic. In both cases he went in to seek no holiday service. He served fully and ably, and in the last and greatest war he only returned to the bosom of his native Commonwealth when the great army of Sherman was disbanded, after its ever-memorable campaign through Georgia and the Carolinas.

Such a hero is a fit target for the sneers of the party that went into the Presidential campaign of 1864 with a platform pronouncing the war a failure. The people endorsed him in 1866, when he was elected their Governor, and we cannot believe that they will now reverse that verdict in 1869, after he has honorably fulfilled the responsible duties of his high office, but will re-elect him by a great majority.

Judge Williams is no new or untried man. As a Judge of the Court of Allegheny county, his record is one in the highest degree honorable to himself. His character stands enviably high with the bench and bar of the State, and his thoroughly judicial cast of mind befits him for the office to which he has been nominated. It is the same he now fills by appointment of the Governor, made upon the resignation of Judge Strong, and we have heard no objection to his course and conduct on that bench. As regards the importance of the office, we need only remind our readers that, of the Judges now on the bench of the Supreme Court Messrs. Sharswood and Thompson are Democrats in a strict partisan sense, and that if another Democrat be now elected to fill Strong's vacancy, that party will again have entire control of the highest Court in the Commonwealth, three being a majority of that bench.

Vagrants in Scotland.—The report of the Inspector of Constabulary in Scotland for the year ending March 15th, 1869, states that the number of tinkers, gipsies, vagrants, and other persons who have no apparent means of support, has increased in Scotland to the extent of 18,000 within the last two years. The number of vagrants now amounts to 68,036, or 33,696 men, 20,756 women, and 13,584 children. The pursuits of this class of society, it is asserted, are very profitable, and it is believed that their lives are passed more comfortably than those of the laborers. At several towns there are "tramp houses," where the vagrants are received, lodged, fed and warmed for one night free of charge. This plan also enables the police to keep the vagrants under strict supervision. It is proposed, however, to compel the tramps to work a certain number of hours in payment for their lodging and food. The Constables in some parts of Scotland have their lives insured, half the expense being paid by the county, so that at the age of 55 they receive $350.

Coal Dirt.

A Mr. Berker of England, has patented a process for working up the small bituminous coal in small blocks, which has proved a success, after the failure of a number of other attempts. Small coal is now compressed into blocks economically by a company. At a meeting of coal proprietors of the Forest of Dean, held at Newham, they noticed this fuel as follows:

"We noticed one fact of great public interest at the hotel on Tuesday. At either end of the room in which the meeting was held there was burning a brilliant fire, making little or no ash, and fed by what appeared to be square bricks of coal. We learnt that this was the first public trial of a commodity supplied by the compressed Coal Company, which has lately established its works at Whitecroft, near Lydney. The waste of coal, that has heretofore been sold by thousands of tons at 1s. per ton, is now by a patent process compressed into small blocks. These last longer than the ordinary lumps. They are excessively clean in the using, and 1½ tons of them may be packed into a space which would suffice for only 1 ton of the large coal. We hear, and can quite believe, that the company is likely to drive an extensive trade.

"The fuel is well suited for steam boilers, as well as for domestic use."

A Watering Place Outfit.

A New York belle, about to make the tour of the watering places, has prevailed upon her papa to allow her seven ball dresses, and here they are: No. 1 is of white tarletan, trimmed with ruchings of the same material, divided by pipings of light blue satin. Overdress looped gracefully a la camargo, and trimmed with box-plaited ruffles and blue satin pipings. No. 2 is a lavendar colored silk, elaborately trimmed with point applique lace and fringe. No. 3, white swiss with long train; the front breadth is tucked and puffed in the most bewitching style, and the side and back breadths are trimmed to the waist with narrow flounces. With the exquisite toilet, a Roman scarf is to be worn as a sash, and the striking effect formed by this combination can be readily imagined. No. 4 is a dress of blue and white striped gauze, with tunic of blue satin, and blue satin corsage, profusely trimmed with white lace. No. 5 is a white grenadine to be worn over a white underskirt. No. 6 is of Metternich green silk, trimmed with white lace. No. 7 is corn-colored silk, en panier, richly ornamented by a deep Brussels lace collar and flounce. Besides all these and many more dresses, Mademoiselle has hats, fans, gloves, shoes, &c., to match each toilet, the expense of the entire outfit exceeding three thousand five hundred dollars.

A Plea for Simple Melodies.

Henry Ward Beecher is right upon the music question. He says: "It is no wonder that singing has died out form the congregation, when a choir is put up to recite words that nobody can understand, to music that nobody knows, and the people are left to listen to newly converted opera airs, which, last week, were brought over by a fresh troupe of foreign singers! And those sweet melodies, that stafted propriety has long ago driven from the churches, but which have gone forth among the people, and rung out gloriously in camp-meetings, shaking the forest leaves with the ascending shouts of a mighty people; or which, more gently, have filled rural school-houses and humble lecture rooms and village churches, not yet corrupted by the false pretences of 'classical music'—those sweet melodies that no one can hear with his ear, and not feel his heart beating within his bosom all the faster from the sound—are become the ridicule and contempt of men who think that God must be praised to the sound of Meyerbeer or Rossini, and not to the sweet and humble melodies of our own land."

Postoffice Appointments.

F. C. Bowman, Postmaster, Renfield, Clearfield county, Pennsylvania, vice Henry Liphart, abandoned the office.

Augustus K. Green, Postmaster at Meadow Gap, Huntingdon county, vice Nathaniel K. Covert, resigned.

Adelbert P. Simmons, Postmaster at Phœnix, Armstrong county, vice John M. Hosack, resigned.

George G. Frazier, Postmaster at Clarinton, Forrest county, vice John W. Miller, resigned.

William W. Rogers, Postmaster at Nittany, Centre county, vice John H. Long, resigned.

Among the angling items of the Turf, Field and Farm we find the following:

Brook Trout in Pennsylvania.—These fish are reported more numerous in Lehigh and Munroe counties than they have been for years. The cold, backward spring prevented the streams from being fished in the early season, and the fish are not only numerous but in fine condition.

Striped Bass, or Rock Fish.—The season for taking these noble fish has just begun at the Falls of Potomac, above Georgetown, the favorite fishing ground of the late Daniel Webster, and where, we doubt not, Mr. Andrew Hancock, the venerable Walton of the District, is now daily killing his eighty or a hundred pounds with a fly. Genio C. Scott, in his excellent work, Fishing in American Waters, writes enthusiastically of casting mehaden bait for striped bass from the rocky shores of the Atlantic. Let him try the red Ibis fly on the foaming, roaring waters of the Falls of Potomac in June. We think he will admit that to be the highest branch of American angling.

A soldier who lost his scalp with Custar at Washita tells how it felt. First an Indian clubbed him as he lay wounded. Then a squaw squatted on his breast, and pulled his hair out by handfuls as she screeched his death song or something else; and finally this was the process: "The Indian stepped one foot on my chest, and with his hand gathered up the hair near the crown of my head. He wasn't very tender about it, but jerked my head this way and that, and pinched like Satin. My eyes were partially open, and I could see the beadwork trimmings on his leggings. Suddenly, I felt the awfulest biting, cutting flash go round my head, and then it seemed to me just as if my whole head had been jerked clean off. I never felt such pain in all my life; why, it was like pulling your brains out. I didn't know any more for two or three days, and then I came to find that I had the sorest head of any human that ever lived. I was shipped down to Laramie after a bit, and all the nursing I got hain't made the hair grow out on this spot yet."

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL
private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enables them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P.M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY June 26, 1869.

The oil market has been considerably agitated and excited during the past week, but owing to the fact that it was difficult to get buyers and sellers together, the volume of business was comparatively light. The general feeling, however, has been towards increased firmness and compared with last week prices are higher, though, as was the case last week, there were frequent fluctuations; the market changing as many as two or three times a day.

Receipts of Crude this week, 21,020 bbls; last week, 24,734; from January 1st to date, 361,058; same time last year, 95,919. Exports Refined this week, 18,-92; last week, 12,958; from January 1st to date, 20 ,877; same time last year, 31,758; sales this week, 40,400; last week 5,160

CRUDE.

The operations reported to-day were unusually large, reaching in the aggregate 25,000 bbls, while prices have undergone no quotable change. Sales in lots of 10,000 seller all year at 14; 4,000 do at 14; 5,000, last evening, at 14; 1,000 seller June at 14½; 2,000 seller July at 14¾; 4,000 seller 10 days at 14¾; and 500 spot at 14⅝.

REFINED

But a single sale reported, 2,000 June at 31. July quoted at 32 and September to December at 33¼. Compared with Saturday both June and July are off ¾ of 1 cent, while lines for the late months are quiet and unchanged.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was about stationary yesterday with scant five feet in the channel. We should not be surprised to see it rise again to-day, as considerable rain fell on Saturday night. The mercury at 5 P. M. was up to 92 in the shade

The Petrolia is the only arrival we have to report. The Julia No. 2, from Zanesville is due this morning.

The Kate Putnam departed for Cincinnati and Louisville on Saturday evening with about all the freight she could take on the water. Pilots—Capt. J. Hamilton and J. Henderson.

The Wauanita, Capt. C. A. Dravo, is filling up steadily for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi and will probably take her departure to-day.

John Hamilton, a well known steamboat engineer, died at his late residence, Boyle street, Allegheny, yesterday. He had been ill for some five or six weeks with pneumonia.

The towboat Hero left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Friday, with a barge containing 2,400 oil bbls.

The Lorena was to have left St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Saturday.

—A recent letter to the Keokuk Bulletin says that the first steamer that ever ran up the Des Moines (probably certainly above St. Francisville) was the old Ohio River boat Science. She ran up as far as Vernon, and there sunk, about the 1st of May, 1838. She was afterward raised and made other trips.

—The Northern Line Co. and the Northwestern Union Co., combined, have now 200 barges ready for use and distributed at different points along the river, calculating to do an immense business in transporting grain this season.

—The Nashville Union, of Wednesday, says: E. G. Davidson, formerly of Paducah, Ky., an old steamboat clerk, was assassinated in Arkansas a few days ago. It appears that Mr. Davidson had a personal quarrel with a man named Whitley, whom he accused of having offered insults to his wife in his absence. Whitley, fearing revenge, fired five shots at the unfortunate man, and instantly killed him. Our river friends will remember him as book-keeper for many years for Wm. Smedley, clerk on the Huntsville, Alconia, and the ill-fated Lexington. Poor Peleg!

—The St. Louis Democrat, says: Mountain boats are coming in daily now. We have had back to this port the Ida Rees, importer and Nile; the Cora, only 13 days from Benton, passed St. Joseph for St. Louis, Monday. The mountain trade has proved a serious joke to the boats engaged in it this year.

—The stockholders of the defunct St. Louis & Quincy Packet Company sold at auction at St. Louis on Thursday, at Quincy, $75,000 worth of stock in the Northwestern Union Packet Company for an average of forty cents on the dollar. Most of it was bought by John B. Henderson, Esq., United States Senator from Missouri.

—A St Louis telegram, speaking of the case of Capt. Donaldson, says, Public sentiment is somewhat divided in regard to the verdict of the jury in the Donaldson trial, but probably the larger portion of the people think it right. However this may be, it was next to impossible for the jury to convict under the instructions of the Court, they being for murder in the first degree only, and no one, perhaps, thinks even though the Captain shot the boy, that he killed him premeditatedly and with malice aforethought. Others, and not a few, care but little about it, as the victim was "only a nigger, anyhow."

—From the same source we get the following: Capt. Joe Brown left for New York to-day, to complete arrangements for bringing an ocean propeller here. There is now water enough in the river to float any steamer that can come to New York, and therefore there is no obstacle in the way of a successful trip. This is a piece of buncombe, of course, but it will demonstrate the feasibility of navigating the Mississippi with ocean steamers, and may lead to the establishment of a direct trade with Cuba, Mexico and some of the Atlantic ports.

—The Bellevernon and Argosy were advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Friday.

U. S. BONDS at Frankfort, 86⅛@86½.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 49¾f.

GOLD closed in New York Saturday at 137⅛.

WE HAVE an official contradiction of the rumor of the lease of the St. Louis, Vandalia and Terre Haute Railway to the Illinois Central.

OVER eighty millions of dollars of incomes are returned for taxation in the city of New York, and more than four millions of revenue will be yielded therefrom.

THE telegraphic cable, to connect America with France, is already successfully laid for one-fourth of the distance across the Atlantic. Within ten days we hope to announce its safe landing upon our coast.

THE acquittal, by a St. Louis jury, of a well known steamboat officer who was charged with the murder of one of his colored crew, suggests the idea that the life of a negro boatman is of no value whatever in public estimation in that quarter.

THE Commissioner of Internal Revenue has at length completed the change for some time contemplated by him in the XXIII District. Collector JNO M. SULLIVAN gives place to Mr. R. L Brown, whose commission is said to be on its way from the Capital.

A NATIONAL TEMPERANCE CONVENTION has been called, to assemble at Chicago, September 1st, when it is proposed to inaugurate "a decided and practical effort to overcome the dread power of the liquor trade," by distinct political action for the prohibition of the traffic.

HENRY HOUCK, Esq., of Lebanon county, has been appointed Deputy State Superintendent of Common Schools, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late CHARLES R. COBURN. The qualifications of Mr. H. for the post are very highly commended by those who know him.

ADD to the $31,000,000 of gold interest to be paid out by the Government on the 1st of July, the sum to be disbursed in the three great cities for dividends, &c., and a total of about sixty millions of currency will be unlocked and distributed this week, in those leading monetary centres. The result of an easier money market is generally anticipated.

THE retirement of ex-Secretary BORIE and the advent of the new Secretary ROBESON was so well managed that the accomplished facts afforded the first public intimation of the change. Evidently, Gen. GRANT knows how to keep his own secrets. There are rumors, also, of the early retirement of Secretary RAWLINS from the War office. His health has long been precarious, and the event is not unlikely. The hour of its acromplishment is equally beyond precise anticipation.

SINCE the destruction of Southern slavery, the amalgamation of the races in that quarter seems to have almost wholly ceased. Such is the consenting testimony of all recent observations. The moralist might deduce from this fact, a tolerably correct inference as to the precise location, between the master and servile classes, of the responsibility for the former general disregard of the race-distinctions. Facts now show how little amalgamation is desired, at least on one side, and we all know that it can no longer be established by any superior force.

BUSINESS in the anthracite-coal districts is very nearly at a stand-still. A little work is in progress in the Schuylkill region, but the strike is elsewhere in general force. Its termination is wholly uncertain and we already hear of much suffering among the operatives. The main point of dispute is presented in the claim of the mining Unions to control the sale of the coal, a demand which the employers wholly reject. In the meantime, the consumption of the bituminous coals from Nova Scotia and from Maryland is rapidly increasing in the markets of which anthracite had, but a few months since, the undisputed possession. The business of the Maryland mines, in the Cumberland region, exhibits an advance of fifty per cent. in the amount shipped, and a still larger increase is looked for, if the strike shall continue among the Pennsylvania operatives.

THE National Intelligencer, was, for two generations of the people, the most generally accepted and respected political journal at the Federal Capital. In more than one sense, it exercised, and deservedly, a wider political influence than any other journal in America. The years of its greatest power were prior to the new era of railways and telegraphs, since when the publication of the current news has come to be an indispensable feature in successful journalism, and the press of the larger cities at once took and must keep the lead. About the same time, the political conduct of the Intelligencer ceased to be marked by the scholarly ability and vigilant sagacity of its founders, and the fortunes of that old journal at once began to wane. Then came Johnsonism—and the final catastrophe was not far off. That newspaper, which the wisdom and grace of JOSEPH GALES made for a third of a century a power to be felt in the Republic, perishing at last from internal embarrassments, is to be merged forever in an ephemeral cotemporary.

AND NOW COMES Special Commissioner MORRIS, of Illinois, an old personal friend of the President, and a citizen of much experience and high character, whose report, upon the actual condition of the Pacific railways, is published, filling five columns of the Chicago Republican. The Commissioner reiterates, with the greatest minuteness, the statements which have heretofore apprised the people of the very incomplete condition of this great work. His report cannot but confirm the general impression of the unsatisfactory failure of the companies thus far to make good their public engagements. So far, the document has a special value, and, under all the circumstances, must have weight in the proper quarters. The Commissioner proceeds to recommend that Congress shall avail itself of the right which was reserved in the amendatory act of July 2, '64, subordinating the Government lien to that of the Company's mortgage bonds, "to alter, amend or repeal this act at any time," to repeal that arrangement forthwith, thereby restoring the full value of the public security for the funds disbursed from the Treasury. Otherwise, in the Commissioner's opinion, the Company is not unlikely to avail itself of the existing facilities for bringing about a sacrifice of the road for its first mortgage debt to the individual holders of the bonds. This suggestion is worthy of the closest consideration by Congress.

THE Waynesburg Republican states "upon authority," that a local contribution of $500,000 will insure the completion of the Monongahela Valley Railroad, by the Pennsylvania Central corporation, from Pittsburgh to the West Virginia line. A proposition to that effect is said to have been recently made. If these statements are reliable—and we have no reason to think them otherwise—the people of Allegheny, Washington, Fayette, and Greene counties have it in their power to secure the highest public advantages at a very small cost. The terms offered are even more liberal than those which have just resulted in fixing the construction of the Chartiers Railway to Washington as a certainty, and involve but an insignificant per centage upon the total wealth of these four populous and prosperous counties. We shall feel the highest gratification in learning that an effort to realize the proposition will be speedily made, having no doubt whatever of its success, if prosecuted by the right men and in the most judicious way. From the State line, the people of the West Virginian counties would find the way to extend the road, crossing the Baltimore & Ohio Railway en route to Charleston, and there tapping the Chesapeake and Ohio line. Thence, its progress South and Southwestward would be only a question of time, and of the successful development of a region wonderfully rich in every mineral resource. We are confident that this Charleston connection with Pittsburgh can be consummated at a cost of not over one million of dollars to the people of the country which it would traverse—a cost which would be dirt-cheap, if the money were even regarded as given away, in view of the hundred-fold return within the ensuing twenty years to the cash valuation of their other property of every description. The manufacturers and merchants of Pittsburgh could well afford to invest that amount in opening up the resources of so rich a mineral field, and in securing a traffic of which at present they get not a dollar. But it will not be well to rely upon this view of the case; the work must be done and the funds provided in the mode first above indicated, to insure the desired success.

OUR REMARK, that the action of States upon a Constitutional Article submitted to them, whether they ratify or reject it, must be legally regarded as conclusive upon themselves, does not meet the assent of the Wheeling Intelligencer, which insists upon a distinction between the two forms of action. Our cotemporary regards the act of ratification as final, and not to be recalled by State authority, but suggests that a rejection, like that of Ohio, may be reconsidered. This is not the view which is taken of this point by the Ohio Republicans, who, as it is remarked by one of their journals, "regard the legal questions involved as taking the question of such a reversal of the Legislative action, entirely out of the canvass." There is, nevertheless, an evident difference between the attempt to recall the assent already given to a contract and the timely reconsideration of a refusal so to contract, especially when that reconsideration is had while the contract remains still unperfected, by the delay of action in other States thereupon. In the latter case, no injury results to the other parties to the engagement, which is only the more speedily perfected by such reconsideration, while in the former the simple expression of the State assent meets all the Constitutional requirements and can find no Constitutional authority for its withdrawal. It is also evident that our Ohio friends, in declining to make an issue upon the right to reconsider the rejection by their State Legislature, have so forborne because they did not regard this distinction as strong and broad enough to justify its formal recognition in their platform. They have said all that the premises would justify—that they approve the principle which the Article embodies, and earnestly desires its ultimate adoption by the country.

Here in Pennsylvania, the more rugged issue is made for us by our opponents, who are foolish enough to go the whole length of insisting upon the right of a Democratic Legislature, if they can elect one, to withdraw the ratification which the proper authority of the Commonwealth has already pronounced. Upon that sort of an issue we anticipate very little trouble in the canvass, or its result.

THE SUN ECLIPSE.

OBSERVATORY, ALLEGHENY, June 26, 1869.

EDITORS GAZETTE—SIRS: The following are the elements of the eclipse of the sun which occurs on the 7th of August next, calculated for the longitude of the Allegheny Observatory, and expressed in Allegheny mean time:

Eclipse begins Aug. 7, at 4h. 46m. 56s, (four o'clock, forty-six minutes and fifty-six seconds, P. M.)

Eclipse ends Aug. 7, at 6h. 39m. 2s., (six o'clock, thirty-nine minutes, and two seconds, P. M.)

Angle from North Point—76° 46'. (minus seventy-six degrees and forty-six minutes.)

The eclipse will be total at Louisville and Frankfort, Kentucky, which places are among the most convenient of access from this city, of those where the sun is wholly hidden.

Here rather more than eleven-twelfths of the sun's diameter will be covered, but according to past experience, no striking diminution of light need be anticipated.

The impressive features of the eclipse are to be seen only in the region where it is total. There will be little or no scientific interest attached to observations made elsewhere.

No total solar eclipse will occur in the United States during the century after this, and those who make the journey to points within the line of totality will be rewarded by an opportunity of viewing a spectacle confessed the most impressive in nature, and which in ordinary life will not see repeated.

Your obedient servant,
S. P. LANGLEY.

PITTSBURGH HIGH SCHOOL.

Ninth Annual Meeting of the Alumni—Pleasant Reunion of the Past and Present Scholars—Song and Sentiment.

On Friday evening the Alumni of this institution held their ninth annual reunion in the college chapel. There were present nearly three hundred ladies and gentlemen, principally past and present scholars with their friends, Mr. S. W. Hill, (Class 1859) presiding temporarily, and after a fervant prayer was addressed to the Throne of Grace, by Rev. J. Y. Boice, of (Class 1864) the retiring President, Mr. Edward Demmler delivered his valedictory address, which was a touching and masterly piece of oratory.

WHERE ARE THE PAST SCHOLARS?

Vocal music under the leadership of Dr. J. G. McCandless, in which a full chorus joined was next offered, after which John S. Lambie, Esq., (Class 1862) President Elect delivered with all the force, power and eloquence which make him conspicuous, a very able inaugural address. We regret our space forbids a more extended abstract of the address than the following which affords our answer to the above interrogatory:

A close and careful examination of the registers of the institution and of the list of membership of this Association, thorough and extensive inquiries, have failed to find a single individual who has brought discredit upon himself or this institution.

On the contrary we have found them in high and low places; adorning every rank and condition in society, honored and respected by the entire community. Would you know of some of them? Listen. Two of them are editors and proprietors of newspapers—the most powerful instrument known in the formation of public opinion; one is connected with a newspaper as its financial manager; three of them at the sacred desk adorn the profession they have chosen and reflect lustre on the institution; nine of them at the bar challenge comparison with any; three of them are engaged in the practice of medicine; one of them is a prominent railroad civil engineer; two of them graduated from this institution to take positions on the staff of the City Engineer; at least six of them are connected with Railroad Companies and occupy positions of honor and trust; one of them after leaving these walls obtained a Cadetship at West Point, whence he graduated with high honors and is now a Lieutenant in the regular army; one graduating from here, entered into a public competion for a cadetship at West Point, he found as competitors pupils from more pretentious institutions than this; the examination was conducted before an army officer of high rank, a distinguished educator of this city, a prominent attorney and a prominent member of Congress, he bore off the appointment and was publicly complimented for his intelligence; one is a teller and one cashier in a prominent city bank; two of them at least occupy positions on local school boards; three of them are members of your City Councils; one of them is a city Alderman; one will represent you next winter in the Legislative Halls of this great Commonwealth; many of them are among your most successful business men; during the late war one was a Colonel in the army, one was a Lieutenant Colonel; four or five were captains, and as many more were Lieutenants; several of her most accomplished daughters did, or do occupy professors chairs in her walls, while scores of others are to-day creditably filling positions in the common schools of this city.

And my friends would you know why the roll is not longer. Some of them are far from home and kindred, among a strange people occupy soldiers' graves. Go to yonder cemetry and find the honored graves of others who laid down their lives that the nation might live. The living form a cordon around our Alma, each day growing stronger as new recruits join our ranks, are a power which her enemies will do well to heed—for I can assure them that our hearts are brave and our hands willing.

On the conclusion of Mr. Lambies' remarks another musical gem was offered which was succeeded by a pretty and spirited essay from the gifted and smooth flowing pen of Miss Mattie Herron, (Class 1865.) The sprightly and peculiarly original manner this young lady handled the follies of fashion was refreshing, and nearly everybody took home one or more of the thrusts so playfully sent forward. The closing address by Rev. James F. Boice, of Cincinnati, (Class 1864) on the "Demands of the Age" was then delivered. This gentleman has gained position and standing here and elsewhere as a brilliant, earnest and effective pulpit orator, and, in the present instance, he developed his just claims to the high reputation he enjoys. His address was elegantly worded, full of thought and beauty, logical and argumentative.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The address of Rev. Mr. Boice concluded the exercises, and the Alumni proceeded to elect officers to serve during the year 1870: President, Robert D. McKee, class 1860; Vice President, Miss Mary Wilkins, 1865; Secretary, Joseph H. Buffum, 1867; Treasurer, Mrs. Heppie Hamilton, 1859. Executive Committee for 1869: Miss Kate Keys, 1869; Miss Annie M. Asper, 1868; Miss Mary Bell, 1860; Mr. Clark H. Johnson, 1869; Wm. A. Smith, 1863, and Mr. Alex. Hamilton, 1861, Chairman. Adjourned.

THE BANQUET.

The Alumni and guests immediately after adjournment were waited upon by a committee and invited to participate in a banquet provided in honor of the occasion, by the junior and senior classes. A grand march was played by the band and the past classes, that of 1859 leading, together with invited guests, descended to the improvised dining hall where they found the present pupils in waiting to receive them, chanting in chorus an original Latin salutatory of welcome. The hall was beautifully decorated and the well provided tables were arranged so that each class was seated at its own. The supper was all that could be desired by the veriest epicure. After the cloths were removed, Prof. Dean was called to preside, accepting the honor with a graceful speech, and announcing that sentiments were in order. The first offered was:

OUR ALMA MATER—May she ever prove the nursery of great men and accomplished women—the monument of our municipal growth and prosperity—the crowning virtue of a free and progressive people.

John H. Kerr responded ably and eloquently. We make the following extract of his remarks, which fails, however, to do him full justice:

I rise to respond to a sentiment, which I am sure, finds a cordial welcome, not only in your hearts, but in the heart of every friend of popular education—I do confess I feel highly honored in standing before this enlightened and brilliant assemblage, distinguished for so much intellect and beauty—; honored in being chosen to bind our mutual garlands of affection around the temples of our beloved mother and to lay offerings at her shrine.

There is a beautiful German superstition that unseen angels constantly attend us, and that he who first breaks the spell, after a sudden silence is moved by an angel's wing—I feel to-night as if the memory of other days, rich with precious recollections, had fanned my soul with celestial touch, awakening thoughts and feelings that bid me speak the language of gratitude in behalf of that institution within whose classic halls I acquired all the little knowledge I possess; that bid me speak to the people of this growing city for the more liberal endowment of this institution which is the People's College. Here in this city, grasping so much wealth, girt by hills of inexhaustible coal, here where its furnaces, its spindles, its looms, anvils and half reasoning machinery hymn the anthem of toil, here in this Cosmos,—this world of complex and diversified industry should be erected a free college. This city has been termed the Birmingham, may we not also make it the Athens of America.

And first of all let Æsthetics be recognized in the school room As the log cabin has disappeared to make room for the elegant mansion; as we beautify our homes to make them attractive, should we not make the school room attractive? By attraction the universe is held together by Divine law. Relieve the monotony of these dreary walls by painting. Teach history by writing its great events on canvass. Fill every niche with statuettes. These are the poetry of the eye, as music is the poetry of the ear. These bare walls will make the student's heart cold and petrified, but painting like the solar ray will write a picture on his mind. We felicitate each other that in the not distant future we shall have an edifice, crowning yon height, which will indeed be the monument of our municipal growth and prosperity, affording an opportunity to the humblest to be the equal of any, if he can. Our common schools are grand as the common air, the common rain, the common sunshine, grand for their commonness. They gather in the masses and garner their worth. Out of them shall go forth some future Newton to bind his temples with the stars of Orion's belt, or some Herschel to light up his cell with the blaze of before undiscovered planets. Other institutions may be more favored, the common school alone meets the demand of the age. Others may fall, but nothing but the Almighty fiat can lay its beaming head in the dust. The benedictions of a whole people are uttered for its welfare. Yes,

"Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith, triumpant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee, are all with thee."

But as we venerate mind more than matter, as we love friends more than places, so do we honor the Professors of this institution. To our beloved Principal, now presiding, we owe our lasting gratitude. He has become identified with this institution; its glory is his glory, its success is his success.

Mr. Kerr closed by offering the following sentiment:

OUR PROFESSORS, Guides of our youth, their most enduring fame, our success.

This called a very neat and happy speech from Prof. Dean, who briefly adverted to the history of the High School, its trials, troubles and triumphs. He was delighted to meet "my children," for he claimed the right to call them such even yet, and was pleased that they venerated, remembered and respected Alma Mater. He concluded by toasting the "School Directors," and Mr. T. J. Craig responded in a felicitous speech.

Prof. Luckey was next called upon to respond to a sentiment complimentary to himself, and did so in a sensible and practical manner, expressing the great pleasure he derived from the occasion:

Mr. Amos L. Asper offered:

OUR GUESTS—once High School boys and girls—the jewels which a decade has set in the crown of Alma Mater.

This drew J. G. Bryant, Esq., of the Pittsburgh bar, to his feet. He responded ably, appropriately and eloquently.

Mr. W. H. Moore offered:

OUR HOSTS—the class of 1869 whose bountiful hospitality has reversed the order of Nature, that the old provide for the young. May their future be ever unclouded.

This was nobly responded to by one of '69, Miss Maggie Williams, whose address was pretty and sparkling.

In response to a sentiment offered, complimentary to the business men graduating from the High School, Mr. W. H. Moore made a neat and happily worded speech, closing as follows:

There is prevalent among many who wear the armor of a University discipline a foolish disdain of bodily labor and toil, and being inoculated with that feeling of aristocracy, they are prone to regard the professions as the suitable life worthy of the educated man, and placing but a mercenary estimate upon humanity, look down upon business as of the earth, very dirty. Recognizing a just aristocracy I claim a higher regard for a mercantile life and base it upon the antiquity of business, and more especially the callings of the present day and of our immediate locality. The Oil trade, stretching far back of Venango and Nantucket, dates from the time of Jonah, for then they got a prophet out of a whale. The Glass business is co-eval with the creation of man, for they put lights in him, and made him subject to pains. And the Steal business, ironically speaking, has occupied the minds of men—especially legislators—ever since governments had form or countries treasure. In the pursuit of our calling, our way through life may not be carpeted with roses, the path may be rugged and matted with thorns, but armed with the highest and best of all qualities, because most spiritual and therefore most vital, a chastity of honor, that feels a stain like a wound, a dignity and earnestness of purpose, and an unswerving devotion to duty, which alone consecrate exertion, and without which there can be no permanence, success or retention of power, we shall have reared for ourselves the mighty structure of a noble charactor, and though other gain or fame be not ours, yet in its glories we shall realize that our labors have not been in vain. The lateness of the hour, and the amount of still unfinished business warns us that here unlike our daily selves, "we take no note of time," and I would only ask, shall we not all to-night, my old time school mates, and my new made friends sanctified by this fresh baptism and out pouring of olden memories upon our hearts, and strengthened by this renewal of our most blessed bond of intellectual brotherhood, go down from this happy privilege to toil amid the trial and temptations of the business that is ours, to be more faithful examples of the true spirit and teachings of our Alma Mater, more resolved self subordinate, and honor and paramount, more consecrated to His service—ergo, better, nobler, truer men and women?

An original song, full of jovial reminders of school life, entitled "Let's be merry," was next sung with a gusto, all present joining in the chorus.

OUR RECONSTRUCTED COUNTRY—Firmly cemented with the blood of its citizens, may it ever remain one and indivisible.

The response to the patriotic utterance was universal, being greeted by cheers and waving of handkerchiefs, The banquet now adjourned to the upper hall, where a promenade was inaugurated, and a large number indulged in the poetry of motion till the "wee sma' hours ayant the twal."

OUR SCHOOL DAYS.—Youth's season of delight, whose halcyon moments are remembered as an enchanted dream.

John S. Lambie, Esq., of the Pittsburgh bar, responded to this sentiment in remarks warm with the memories of his high school days. He closed his rich review of the past by a feeling allusion to the deceased of their ranks, and then proposed

OUR DEAD—Having completed life's curriculum, they have gone to receive their diploma from the hands of the great Creator.

This sentiment was received in solemn silence, all standing.

A graduate, who seemed bent on sport, sent up

OUR MARRIED. Though bound in the holy bonds of wedlock, still not divorced from us.

This called to her feet Mrs. Heppie Hamilton, who in a series of humorous remarks, praised those who had received the diploma issued by the clergyman, and chaffed those backward scholors who have so far failed to do so. To give them a chance to reply, she proposed.

OUR UNMARRIED—"They can speak for themselves."

And they did speak for themselves by the mouth of Miss Demmler, a talented young lady, of the class of '61. She closed her pleasant rejoinder amid great applause.

THE FREE SCHOOLS AND FREE PRESS—Twin Divinities, presiding over the destinies of the Republic.

Responded to by T. P. Houston, of the Gazette,

The Newell Institute for Young Ladies and Boys—Interesting Occasion.

We had the pleasure on Friday evening of attending a select literary entertainment afforded by the young gentlemen—boys we don't like to call those who evince so much talent and cultivation—scholars attending the Newell Educational Institute, No. 267 Penn street. The performances consisted of a number of original orations and of selected oratorical sketches, and certainly were highly creditable to the Institution, which can teach boys to thus acquit themselves. Either there is more talent and genuine ability there than usually found in contemporary educational establishments, or what talent the scholars possess is better developed. Both may be true, at any rate, several of the young gentlemen may be congratulated on oratorical abilities far above the common standard, while the Institute may be heartily congratulated in the possession of such pupils. This school for boys, where all the practical branches of education are taught in connection with the higher ones, is admirably managed, and those trusted with the training of youth should not fail to examine closely into the many superior advantages afforded. The school-rooms are well appointed and home-like; the faculty is all that could be desired, while the morals of the scholars are closely guarded.

In our notice of the pleasant occasion of that evening in the Boys' Department it may be well to pay passing tribute to the elegant college rooms recently opened for the young ladies attending the Institute. To the commodious and well-appointed four story building, No. 255 Penn street, in the very heart of one of the prettiest and most secluded neighborhoods of the city, they have been transferred, and pursue their studies there under the most careful surveillance and best possible direction and with a success highly creditable to the faculty and satisfactory to their friends. The various class rooms are fitted and furnished in chaste and luxurious style and must prove incentives to study. The entrance hall, the elegant music rooms and parlors, the classical and preparatory departments are all enticing, and the young ladies cannot too highly appreciate the comforts and conveniences with which surrounded. Here, as in the Boys' School, which is but a few doors above in the same street, a large and judiciously selected faculty preside, and the curriculum of studies takes in all branches fitting the scholars for usefulness as well as to adorn the walks of the highest order of society. The attendance in the ladies department has been large, but in the commodious new quarters allotted them there is ample room for more pupils, and those who were hitherto deprived admittance, because of insufficiency of room to accommodate them, can now be permitted to enter and partake of the decided educational advantages afforded. Professor J. R. Newell, the Principal, and Professor I. A. Macrum, who head the faculty are too well known and appreciated in this community, as successful educators of the young, to need any commendation at our hands. The Fall term of the Institute will commence in September next, so that much intervening time is allowed parents and guardians charged with the education of the young, to make inquiry into the character, standing, success and tone of the highly prized home place of education, and we bespeak such inquiry in its behalf, believing that its best advertisement is in the finish of its past scholars and the proficiency of those at present in attendance.

—The Coroner's jury at Jacksonville, Illinois, who have been investigating the Wapell poisoning for two or three days, on Saturday returned the following verdict: "That the child Berry Wapell, who died July 12th, 1868, came to his death, we believe, by arsenic, administered by some person or persons to the jury unknown." It seems that three or four of Mrs. Wapell's children have died mysteriously, but the investigation has been held only in regard to one. No steps have yet been taken to arrest Mrs. Wapell.

THE SYMPTONS OF CONSUMPTION.

Paleness of the countenance.
Spitting, or expectoration of pus.
This pus sinks in water.
It is sometimes streaked with blood.
There is chilliness or shiverings, and flashes of heat.
There is a pearly whiteness of the eyes.
The hair of the head falls off.
At times there is a circumscribed red spot on one or both cheeks.
There is swelling of the hands and feet.
There is great debility and emaciation of the body.
There is a high colored state of the urine.
With a deposit on standing like brick dust.
There is oftentimes a great thirst.
The blood is hurried through the arteries and veins.
The pulse is over a hundred, and even as high as one hundred and forty a minute.
The veins on the surface of the body are bluer than usual, and languid.
As the disease progresses the debility increases.
The expectoration becomes more copious.
The finger nails are incurvated.
There is a marasmus and wasting of all the powers of life.
There is often pain in one or both lungs.
There is often diarrhoea and faintness.
There is great sinking of the vital forces.
When there are turbercles, small portions of turberculous matter will be expectorated.
This tubercular matter has an offensive odor.
On an examination with a lung sound, rattling and gurgling is heard.
There is always more or less cough.
Some of these symptons are always present in pulmonary consumption, and nearly or quite all of them in different stages of the disease.
No disease of which we have any knowledge is so common and so almost invariably fatal; yet this need not be the case if the earlier symptoms were heeded. Time and again we have called attention to Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, which will in every instance of a recent cough arrest the progress of the disease and hinder its development, and even after it has become settled will often cure it and arrest further decay of the lungs.

Sold at the great Medicine Store, No. 167 LIBERTY STREET, one door from St. Clair. Dr. Keyser may be consulted at his LIBERTY STREET OFFICE EVERY DAY UNTIL 12 o'clock, and at his resident office, No. 120 Penn street, from 1 to 4 o'clock.

WORDS OF WEIGHT FOR WIVES AND MOTHERS.

The superiority of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS over all other tonics and correctives, as a remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, nervous affections and all complaints of the visceral organs—and as a preventive of malirious disorders, is proverbial; but perhaps it is not so generally known that the ingredients of this famous invigorant and alterative exercise a powerful and most beneficial influence in that numerous and distressing class of ailments, of which so many thousands of delicate women are the patient, uncomplaining victims. The special troubles of the sex, commencing with the dawn of womanhood, and extending over a period of from thirty to thirty-five years, are as readily and certainly relieved by the operation of this admirable vegetable preparation, as any of the complaints common to both sexes, for which it is recommended as a specific. The attention of mothers is invited to its balsamic effect in those peculiar cases of functional irregularity and irritation which, when neglected or maltreated, destroy the health and shorten the lives of so many invalids. There is no need for the powerful and dangerous drugs too often resorted to in such cases. The mild tonic and restorative action of the BITTERS is all the assistance that nature requires it its struggle to overcome the difficulty, and a vast amount of suffering would be spared to the sex if they placed implicit faith in this wholesome vegetable invigorant, corrective and nervine, and discared the pernicious nostrums advertised by ignorant and mercenary charlatans.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH, June 26, 1869.

TO THE HON. JARED M. BRUSH, Mayor of Pittsburgh.

SIR: At an informal gathering, eight incorporators of the Ladies' Monumental Association selected Allegheny Cemetery for the location of the proposed Soldiers' Monument, and authorized a erection in that private institution without delay or loss of time.

Believing this to be in direct opposition to the most unanimous desires of the contributors and community, we would respectfully ask that you call a Public Meeting, to be held at such time and place as you may designate, giving our citizens due notice thereof, that immediate action may be taken in relation to the matter.

R. H. Palmer, Logan Gregg & Co., A. H. English & Co., George A. Kelly, Wm. Phillips, Isaiah Dickey, Graff, Bennett & Co., Means & Coffin, And many others.

In pursuance of the above call, a meeting of the citizens will be held at WILKINS HALL, Fourth avenue, on MONDAY EVENING, 28th instant, at 8 o'clock.

VALUABLE CITY LOTS FOR SALE.

The undersigned, as trustee in the partition of the real estate of

AGNES KNOX, Deceased,

By order of the District Court of Allegheny county, will sell at public sale, on the premises, on WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1869,
At 2 o'clock P. M., that very valuable property on Fifth avenue, city of Pittsburgh, consisting of TWO LOTS. First—A lot fronting on Market street 30 feet and extending the same width, along the south side of Fifth avenue 101 feet to Market alley. Second—A lot on the opposite side of Market alley, fronting on Fifth avenue 30 feet, and running back, preserving the same width, along Market alley 30 feet. On the first mentioned lot are FOUR FRAME TENEMENTS, and on the other a THREE STORY BRICK BUILDING.

These lots are among the most valuable in the city of Pittsburgh, being on the principal street and in the centre of business. The attention of capitalists is particularly invited to them, as they are desirable chiefly for the value of the lots, the buildings not being of much consequence, and possession for building purposes can be obtained on 3 months' notice. The property now rents for over eight thousand dollars. The purchaser will receive the rents after July 1st.

THE TERMS OF SALE.

One-third cash, and the remaining two-thirds in two equal annual payments, with semi-annual interest from day of sale, secured by bond and mortgage on the premises.

FOR SALE—A beautiful coun-try home, located near Perrysville, eight miles from the city, fronting on the Plank Road. The grounds contain 53 acres in all, is well improved, and in a high state of cultivation. There is erected upon it a splendid two story double frame mansion of ten rooms, with all necessary halls, pantries, and all modern conveniences; also, carriage house, wood and coal shed, a tastefully arranged barn, with ample stabling, and all other necessary smaller outbuildings. A beautiful grove of forest trees adjoins the house, which stands on an eminence, commanding a delightful view of the surrounding country for many miles. Two large orchards of delicious fruit, also all kind of small fruits, abundance of excellent water, and in fact everything that taste and convenience could suggest to make it pleasant and comfortable. It has been used as a summer home by the owner for the last seven years. There is also a tenement house on the property, now occupied by a good tenant. Any one wishing to retire from business will find this one of the most desirable properties to be found. Possession given immediately, or will sell the main buildings with fifteen acres, to suit purchaser. Apply to CROFT & PHILLIPS, Real Estate Agents, No. 139 Fourth Avenue. je22

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 26, 1869.

The gold market has a strong appearance, but nevertheless is only sustained and kept firm by the large stock houses, to prevent a decline of stock at present. The disbursemeet of about thirty millions of gold coupons, to begin during tne present week, is supposed to have a depressing effect on the gold premium, and a large number of speculators and importers have a direct interest in depressing the market as much as possible before the first of the month, in order to see it carried down further by the large disbursements. The inactivity of bonds, however, may necessitate the shipment of coin during the early part of July and it is supposed will be the signal for a sharp upward movement. The rise is based on natural causes, viz: the unfavorable grain crop reports, the so far unfavorable coddition of the corn and cotton crops and the dullness in the bond market in Europe; although interest at London is again reduced to 3½ per cent.

The Government bond market is not characterized by the activity we are wont to see before the maturity of the gold interest and it seems that the market is merely sustained by interested parties.

For stocks, a change is expected during the early part of this week. Nearly all the watered stocks have reached a point higher, almost equal to the highest during the month of May. The market shows but little activity and purchases are only made to cover short sales. Reports are current that the Express Companies will further consolidate, reduce their expenses and raise the rate of charges. Large purchases of stocks have been made at advanced prices.

Money is in fair supply, but rates are stiff and none but good paper will pass at all.

The past week has been one of the dullest of the season in monetary affairs.

NEW YORK, June 26, 1869.

Money abundant at 7 currency, and at the close there was a large balance offered at 5@6. The Bank Statements show a continued contraction. The increase in specie nearly offsets the loss in legal tenders, so the banks are comparatively as strong as last week. Loans were $260,431,732; decrease, $4,910,174; specie, $20,257,140; increase, $1,231,696; circulation, $34,214,785; increase, $15,956; deposits, $181,774,695; decrease, $4,469,415; legal tenders, $4,816,892; decrease, $1,448,568. Sterling firm at 9¼@9¾. Gold weak; opened at 137½, fell to 137⅜, advanced to 137⅝, and closed at 137⅜@137¼. Carrying rates 6@8 per cent. Clearances $52,000,000. The steamer Cleopatra brought $681,000 from Vera Cruz. Export to-day $358 000; for the week $540,767.

Governments a shade firmer, with a good demand; some foreign orders were only partially executed in consequence of the advance. Coupons '81, 121⅜@121⅝; do. '62, 122@122¼; do. 64, 117¼@118½; do. PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 26, 1869.

The markets, with the exception of Wheat and Flour, have been very dull, during the past week, and there is no prospect of any immediate improvement. And even in the articles above referred to, there has been but little done, notwithstanding there has been and is still considerable excitement, in consequence of a material advance in most of the leading markets. The feeling here seems to be that there is no real or substantial cause for the recent upward movement, and that, therefore, it is not likely to be maintained and as a consequence, the demand is not much better now than it was prior to the spirit mentioned.

The whole movement seems to have originated in Chicago and New York, aided by an improved export demand, and as there is a large June "short" interest, the object of those who are at the head of it is to run the price of Wheat up to the highest possible notch, and then compel the "shorts" to settle by paying the difference between the price the Wheat was sold at and the price current on the day of settlement. This is no new wrinkle—it has been done in Chicago frequently, though it generally turns out that those who bring about the "corner," suffer more than those who are "cornered." We do not say that the present movement is intended for a "corner," though it looks, to say the least, a little suspicious.

The Chicago Times, in its financial article, says: "In grain circles numerous failures have occurred from the inability of operators to secure sufficient accomodations to tide them over the emergency occasioned by the sudden advance in prices." Private information places the number of "short" operators in Chicago, who had failed up to Monday, at thirteen.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales at 50@$1,00, per gallon as to quality.

BUTTER—Is in pretty good supply and the market is quiet and unchanged; sales of good to prime at 23@25.

BEANS—Dull at $2@2,25.

CHEESE—Is dull and in good supply but unchanged; quotations may be given at 15@16 for Common Western Reserve; 17@18 for Factory and 19@20 for Goshen.

CARBON OIL—Is dull though firm with light offerings, and prices are pretty well sustained—28@30, in a jobbing way.

DRIED FRUIT—Is very dull, and to use a common expression, about "played out" for this season. Holders are anxious to realize, and there are no established quotations.

EGGS—Unchanged at 18.

FEATHERS — Supply in hands of commission men almost exhausted. Live geese may be quoted at 85@90, to the trade, and $1 in a retail way.

FLOUR—Is firm, though the demand has not improved much, and prices are relatiyely lower here than they are in the west. We continue to quote at $6@6,50 for Spring Wheat brands, and $7@7,50 for Winter, as to quality.

GRAIN—Wheat is in limited supply and firmer and compared with last week prices are higher we now quote at $1,30@1,35 for Red, as to quality. Corn is in rather better demand and higher; sales of mixed at 74@75 and yellow at 80@83. Oats a shade stronger, though as yet unchanged; may be quoted at 65@66 on track and 68@70 in store. Rye also is in better demand and higher, with sales at $1,15@1,18, and quotations may be given fairly at $1,15@1,20. Nothing doing in Barley.

HAY—Baled is still quoted at $20@25, on wharf, as to qnality.

HAY—Sales at Allegheny Scales of 42 loads at $21@35 for old, and $21 for new. Straw sold at $20.

HUSKS—Sales at 3 cts per pound.

HEMP—Sales at $210.

LIME—Cleveland Lime is quoted at $2.50, per bbl, and Common White at $1.75.

LARD OIL—Is firmer, in sympathy with the advance in Lard, and tending upward.

PEANUTS—Small sales at 12c.

POTATOES—Dull: old crop quoted at 35@40 per bushel, and new at $3,25@3,50 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Firmer and a shade higher. We now quote Shoulders, at 14¾@15; Ribbed Sides, 17½@17¾; Clear Sides, 18½@18¾; Breakfast Bacon, 21; 21@21½ for Sugar Cured Hams and 16½@16¾ for Sugar Cured Shoulders. Dried Beef, 21. Mess Pork, $33,75. Lard, 20 in tierces, 21 in hf bbls, and 21 in pails and kegs.

SEEDS—The demand for Clover and Timothy Seeds seems to have almost entirely subsided. Flaxseed would sell but there is none in market.

SALT—Is dull and drooping; may be quoted at $1,70 by the car load.

CINCINNATI, June 26.—Flour is in fair demand, with sales of family at $5,75@6,00. Wheat is lower, with sales of No. 2 at $1,20, and No. 1 at $1,25. Corn and Oats are unchanged and in fair demand. Cotton is firmer and prices tend upward at the close, at 32@32¼c for middling. Tobacco is unchanged and no sales were made to-day. Whisky is unsettled and dull and prices are nominal, holders asking 93c. Provisions are inactive, with nothing of consequence done, and prices were nominally unchanged. Mess Pork is held at $32,75@33. Bulk meats are held at 12⅞@13c for shoulders, and 15¾c for sides. Sugar cured hams at 20@21c. Lard 19¼c; the demand is trifling and no sales of consequence were made. Butter is in light order demand at 26@30c for fresh. Eggs are held at 17c, with light receipts. Groceries and Oil are unchanged. Gold, 137 buying.

TOLEDO, June 26.—Flour dull and heavy. Wheat a shade lower and active and firm, amber at $1,37@1,37¼, No. 1 red at $1,31, No. 1 white at $1,62@1,65; closing at $1,64. Corn 1@2c better and moderately active, No. 1 at 74½, No. 2 at 72, rejected at 67. Oats steady at 65 for No. 1 Michigan. Rye in good request and none offering, No. 1 nominally at $1,05@1,10. Barley dull. The receipts for the past twenty-four amounted to 3,300 barrels of flour, 10,900 bushels of wheat, 23,900 bushels of corn, and 2,400 bushels of oats. The shipments for the same time were 1,300 barrels of flour, 5,600 bushels of wheat, 8,800 bushels of corn, 2,800 bushels of oats, and 700 bushels of rye.

Reporters and Public Men.

There are many conversations repeated in print which evidently were not meant for the public ear, which in their nature were plainly private, and yet which reputable newspapers print. Is it not incumbent upon the editorial responsibility to prevent such publications? Some time ago a newspaper published a long string of remarks which General Grant was said to have made upon certain conspicuous citizens. It was impossible not to see at once either that General Grant had never said what was attributed to him, or that he did not mean it should be made public. The publication could have no result except to pain certain persons, gratify a taste for personalities, and stigmatize the General as a foolishly loquacious man. The article was undoubtedly made up of inferences as to opinions derived from an estimate of the General's character and known views, and of some rumors in the air in Washington. No sensible man believed it; but there are some people in the world who are not sensible, and the story undoubtedly did miscnief. Now every such performance greatly injures the character of the press, and consequently the people. If it is the duty of an editor to sell his papers at all hazards, it is proper that he should permit such things to be printed. If his duty is to see that the immense power of the press is not abused to the public injury, it is proper that he should carefully exclude from his paper everything of the kind.

The public, at least, should discriminate. Every morning there is a series of reports of facts which are in their nature purely personal. So keen is supposed to be the appetite for this kind of gossip that some newspapers almost daily publish a list of what they call personals; and long ago the late Mr. N. P. Willis remarked that what the public most desire to find in a newspaper is personalities. Now personalities may be very innocent and very interesting; but obviously the lawful line of such remarks is very easily passed. A man of note is considered to be fair prey. Whatever can be ascertained about his most private habits is ruthlessly revealed. The inevitable result is to cover with suspicion every person who is known to "write in the papers." A friend tells you an excellent and harmless joke upon the most venerable dignitary, even upon the mayor of the city or the bishop of the diocese, and, suddenly remembering, a horrible apprehension overwhelms him, and he gasps, "For Heaven's sake don't print it!"

Thus the recklessness of some, as Dr. Johnson would say, becomes the condemnation of all. And the remedy lies with the gentlemen of the profession. There is nothing so scandalous that if printed will not find readers. It is therefore for editors and publishers to decide whether they will procure readers by such means. And as the virtuous public will shrewdly observe that the names of the reporters of private conversations with public men are not generally printed, and as the worthy reporters wish to make their stories "tell," the public must decide whether it is probably an authentic record which it peruses.—EASY CHAIR, Harper's Magazine for July.

Why Preston King Committed Suicide.

A new revelation of the cause which drove Preston King to suicide is made by a writer in the Ogdensburg Journal, who claims to have been in the confidence of Mr. King, and to have gathered from his own lips a knowledge of the feeling by which his mind was worked upon until it lost its reason. By this writer, the suicide of Mr. King is attributed entirely to the treachery of Andrew Johnson, whose nomination for Vice President, in 1864, was due to the efforts of Mr. King perhaps more than to those of any other man. After the Vice President's drunken inaugural, Mr. King took him in charge, going with him to Silver Spring and other places, and laboring with him until he became sobered. Afterward, when Mr. Johnson became President, Mr. King took up his abode at the White House, and the Journal says his sole purpose was to watch over and advise with him. Finding his influence unavailing to prevent Johnson's betrayal of those who had mistakenly elected him, apprehending the most disastrous consequences to the country from what he saw would be the character and course of the Administration, and feeling keenly his own responsibility in a great measure for the nomination and election of so bad and dangerous a man, a morbid gloom settled upon his mind, which darkened until he destroyed himself.

The story is quite consistent with known facts, and very probably furnishes the true explanation of the melancholy mystery of Preston King's death.

French Insanity.

It appears from collated statistics that insanity is steadily on the increase in France. From the first of January, 1801, to the 31st of December, 1819, the number of mad under treatment amounted to 5,416; from January, 1811, to December, 1820, to 8,373; from January, 1821, to December, 1830, to 10,714; and from January, 1831, to December, 1840, to 14,435. So that between 1801 and 1840 the numbers were almost trebled. The increase during the next ten years is even more startling. Between 1841 and 1850 the numbers reached 36,530. Again this number increased between 1851 and 1860 to 50,245. Since 1860 the numbers have steadily increased. In 1861 there were 6,266 mad poor; in 1862 the numbers were 6,337; in 1863 they were 6,669; in 1864 they were 6,877; in 1864 they were 7,234; and lastly, in 1866, they had reached 7,728. It thus appears that in the last year of which we have any official record there were as many mad patients under treatment in the asylums of the Department of the Seine as there were in ten years at the opening of the century.

New Use for Velocipedes.

The velocipede has now really made its appearance in the bull-fighting ring. In the circus at Nismes the picadors appeared a few days since mounted on velocipedes instead of horses, and displayed such skill in the management of their iron steeds that the astounded bull was unable to dismount a single one of them. Should this fashion become universal in bull-fighting countries, the gain to common humanity will undoubtedly be great, but it is feared that the increased expense will prove an insurmountable obstacle to its general adoption, a single velocipede being worth, as a rule, at least half a dozen of the wretched horses yearly disemboweled by hundreds for the amusement of the fair ladies of Madrid and Seville.

Washington Items.

It is certain some rather important negotiations are going on with Canada and England relative to a new reciprocity treaty with Canada, but just what they are has not yet fairly come to light.

Claims for pensions have been, from time to time, rejected by the Commissioner on insufficient evidence, until the number has reached a very large figure. Mr. Van Aernam, the present Commissioner, deeming that many of them were improperly disallowed, has organized an examining board to review this class of claims, in order to do justice where it is possible that any oversights have been committed. Claimants will be again called upon to furnish the evidence which may be found essential upon a re-examination. It is thought that this course will result in granting many pensions to invalids, and to widows, orphans and other heirs, disallowed through inadvertance, or under enactments subsequently annulled.

Information from the Carolinas and Virginia is reecived, describing the efforts of Chief Justice Chase to establish a new political party in the South for the covert purpose of securing himself the Conservative or Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1872. The Wells Republicans in Virginia are particularly earnest in their denunciations of his course in that State, and charge him with having used his influence against their interests. They say that he has been constantly surrounded by the most ultra rebels and disaffected Republicans, and has failed to recognize the existence of any political organization except that which supports Walker for Governor.

All the accounts received from Virginia say that the excitement throughout the State over the approaching election is becoming very intense. The canvass is carried on with a good deal of bitterness on both sides. The leading Republicans from that State now here think that Wells, the Republican candidate for Governor, will be elected by from fifteen to twenty thousand majority, although many claim thot these figures are too low. It seems to be understood that the disfranchising clause will be stricken out of the Constitution. But few Republicans are supporting it.

Indiana Coal.

It is found that the coal of Indiana can be used in the manufacturer of iron, and that it can be laid down at Chicago for $2 per ton. Lake Superior iron can be laid down at Chicago for $18 per ton. Over this discovery Chicago rejoices, and the Tribune observes: "If these facts and figures are true, the opening up of the railroads to the Indiana mines will be the signal for the building of iron furnaces in Indiana and at Chicago as rapidly as capitalists can comprehend the situation and regulate their investments according to the opportunity for profit which they present. It is simply impossible that the Lake Superior iron shall travel to Cleveland and Pittsburgh after a coal of the very best quality for smelting, and free from sulphur, can be laid down in Chicago for less than the cost of the coal of Pennsylvania."

On Monday last, two brothers, residing in Sharon, Pennsylvania, by the names of Rufus and Daniel Williams, ironworkers by trade, drove over to Hubbard to have a spree, in the afternoon. During the continuance of it, while both were engaged in eating cheese, with their pocket knives, some difficulty arose as to their respective merits as marksmen, both having served in the army, during which Rufus, the younger, turned the knife in his hand and struck his brother a back-handed blow with it, penetrating to the heart, remarking that he could beat him stabbing any way. The injured man, instead of attempting to defend himself, passed his knife over to his brother, and told him to stab him again. Daniel died the next morning from the effects of the wound, and the fratricide, who had been arrested, was taken before Justice Mitchel, who, upon examination, bound him over and sent him under guard to Warren, where he was turned over to the Sheriff for safe-keeping. The parties were both Welshmen, and the appearance of the murderer is repulsive and brutal.

ADMIRAL PRINCE MENTSCHIKOFF, who died a few weeks at St. Petersburg, was one of the most ardent fanatics among the so called old Russians. A Paris paper relates a few characteristic anecdotes about him. Whenever the patriotic play, The Life for the Czar, was performed at the Imperial Theatre, in St. Petersburg, the Admiral made his appearance and shed tears. One day Prince O., noted for his caustic wit and independent character, conversed with Metschikoff, to whom he said: "There is no God!" Mentschikoff sprang to his feet with a cry of horror and exclaimed, his features distorted with rage, "What did you say?" The Prince replied calmly, "I said there was no God." The Admiral retorted, "You utter a blasphemy!" "Very well," rejoined the Prince, "but what if the Emperor should repeat to you the same thing?" "That would alter the case," said Mentschikoff, quite pacified: "His Majesty knows more about it than I do."

A DELEGATION of citizens from Grass Valley and Nevada, California, have held a meeting to take measures to introduce the culture of silk and tea into Nevada county. A committee of six was appointed to select two gentlemen to send down to San Francisco to confer with Herr Schnell, and to suggest to him the propriety of examining the natural advantages of this country for his purposes; and also to raise funds to pay necessary expenses.

The New York Tribune says: State Conventions were held yesterday in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and we think the Republicans throughout the country will be gratified to learn that Gov. Geary in the one and Gov. Hayes in the other State have been nominated for reelection. The unanimity with which these faithful officers have been selected as the Republican standard-bearers, and the enthusiasm manifested by the Conventions, give promise of good in October next.

BAGGAGE SMASHERS.—In Massachusetts, on June 25th, a law goes into effect which provides that any baggage master, express agent, stage driver, hackman, or other person whose duty it is to handle, remove, or take care of the baggage of passengers, who shall willfully or recklessly injure or destroy any trunk, valise, box, package or parcel, while loading, transporting, unloading, delivering or storing the same, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars. A similar law might be useful in this State.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it into work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Liver Commaint is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:101-d&F

City Councils.—A regular monthly meeting of City Councils will be held this (Monday) afternoon, at two o'clock.

Surety.—Florence Acker was arrested for surety on oath of Kate Acker, before Justice Cartwright, who, in default of bail, committed her to jail.

Soldiers Oppose It.—At a meeting of Post 35, G. A. R., held Friday evening, resolutions strongly opposing the location of the Allegheny county Soldiers' Monument in the Cemetery were passed.

Larceny.—John Frenk, charged with larceny on oath of Charles Little before Alderman Mullen, was, after a hearing, committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at court.

Abandonment.—John Hourehaw, on oath of his wife, Elizabeth Jane, charged with abandonment, before Justice Lipp, was arrested and after a hearing committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at Court.

Malicious Mischief.—John McAnarny made information before Alderman Shore, Saturday, charging C. B. Tyler with malicious mischief. Tyler was arrested and after a hearing was, in default of bail for his appearance at court, committed to jail.

State Central Committee.—The following named gentlemen have been designated to represent this county in the Republican State Central Committee for the ensuing year: Thomas Ewing, Thomas M. Bayne, R. W. Mackey, J. H. Stewart, John Heath, A. H. Gross, Charles Jeremy, T. J. Bigham.

False Pretenses.—G. W. Brock made information before Mayor Drum Saturday, charging W. H. Parsons with obtaining money under false pretenses. The members of the Order are respectfully invited to attend. PETER WALTER, Secretary.

Officers Elected.—The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term, at a meeting of Post 35, G. A. R., held on Friday evening last: Post Commander—J. R. Oxley; Senior Vice—C. B. Drennan; Junior Vice—William Atkinson; Adjutant—Wm. Lockhart; O. D.—J. D. Johnson; O. G.—Bruce Kennedy; Quarter Master—Howard Logan; Q. M. S.—J. Q. A. Wagley.

We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of "Valuable Suburban Building Lots" to be sold on the premises by H. B. Smithson, Auctioneer, on Saturday, July 10th, at two o'clock P. M. This property is a portion of the old "Watson Powder Mill property," and for beauty of location, variety of scenery, accessibility to the city, convenience to schools and churches, we venture to affirm is unsurpassed by any in the vicinity of the city. The property has been most judiciously sub-divided into building lots of 20x150 feet, fronting on fifty feet streets, while the portion on the Monongahela river has been laid out in large lots from sixty to one hundred feet front by over four hundred to a fifty feet street, which from their river view, size and beauty, are most admirably adapted for fine suburban residences. The terms on which this property is offered are such as to enable all to avail themselves of this rare opportunity to secure sites for a home, free from the dirt, noise and heat of the city, and yet convenient to business. A free excursion train will leave the Connellsville depot at one o'clock P. M., on day of sale. John D. Bailey & Brother, No. 115 Fourth avenue, will furnish further information and plans of the property.

Exhibition at Mansfield.

A public school exhibition was held at Mansfield on Thursday evening, June 24th, in the First Presbyterian Church. The entertainment was a complete success, reflecting credit alike on teachers and pupils. At the close of the entertainment the following resolution, presented by Mr. Lee, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the citizens of Mansfield return their thanks to the Principal, Mr. McCullough, and to his assistant, Miss Jennie R. Davis, for the evening's entertainment, and also for the successful manner in which they conducted the school the past term.

The Sunday Question.

Extract from proceedings of the monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association of Pittsburgh, held June 26th, 1869:

WHEREAS, A portion of our fellow-citizens propose to celebrate the coming National Jubilee on the Christian Sabbath, therefore

Resolved, That this Association does hereby express the profoundest sorrow and regret at this unprecedented and unnecessary desecration of that holy day, (held sacred by the Father's of the Republic, as well as by their descendants) and would most earnestly hope that such proposed celebration on that day may be reconsidered and postponed, in accordance with the time-honored customs of the country and the general desire of this community."

Probable Fatal Affray.

A cutting affray of a very serious nature occurred Saturnay evening between four and five o'clock, at the corner of Pike and Walnut streets, between Samuel Aldridge and Thomas alias "Ranter" Davis, during which the latter used a knife freely, inflicting three severe cuts on the former, two in the left breast and one in the right, all of which penetrated the lungs. It appears that the parties got into a quarrel, when it is alleged Aldridge attacked Davis with a billy, striking him several times, and the latter, it is said, used the knife in defending himself. The parties boarded together with a Mr. Brown where the difficulty occurred. Davis was arrested, and Alderman Taylor, after taking the statement of Aldridge, committed Davis to jail to await the result of the injuries he had inflicted on Aldridge.

BUTLER, PA.

The Shugart Poisoning Case—Chemical Analysis—Discovery of Poison—Illness of Deceased—Interesting Testimony.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BUTLER, Friday, June 25, 1869.

The Shugart poisoning case continues to excite great interest and the attendance in the court-room more than equal to its capacity. Mrs. Shugart to-day seemed to take more than usual interest in the proceedings, and conversed with her counsel very frequently, explanatory of some of the evidence. Below will be found the fourth day's proceedings.

Court assembled at the usual hour, half-past eight o'clock.

DR. BREDIN'S EXAMINATION CONCLUDED.

I did not get any information from Shugart as to the cause of his sickness. He seemed to have no idea of it and gave no indications that he knew he was poisoned.

The witness was then cross-examined by Mr. Thompson for the defence. Mrs. Shugart assisted me and seconded all my efforts. She was weeping all the time I was there. She spoke several times about poison, meaning by that, as I understood, the unwholesome food, (frozen cabbage and radishes,) which Shugart had eaten the night before. At the time Mrs. Shugart appealed to me as a friend whether she had not treated her husband right, I thought the appeal very strange. I did not know that Wise had charged her with the crime of poisoning. I understood from Wise afterwards that she knew she was suspected, at least.

The cross-examination was continued at great length and was searching throughout, but no additional facts were developed. This witness was on the stand about five hours altogether.

FURTHER EVIDENCES OF POISON.

Dr. Samuel Graham, sworn—Reside in Butler. Am a physician by profession, but keep a drug store in Butler. I was in the army as a surgeon from 1863 to 1868, having charge of a regiment. A portion of the stomach of Jacob Shugart was handed me and I made several experiments. I made tests about two weeks after the death of the man. I first tested with nitrate of silver and ammonia. The result in regard to the color was not as marked as by evaporation. By throwing the result of the evaporation on the hot coals. I got the smell which is termed garlicy, which is a test laid down in the books. This proved the presence of arsenic, but something else might have produced it.

The second test was the copper one. I took part of the solution and with ammonia and sulphate of copper got Scheel's green color. This test was not very satisfactory as regards the smell, but was satisfactory in regard to the color, which indicated the presence of arsenic.

I next tried Marsh's test, which was the most satisfactory. I first tested the chemicals to detect the presence of any arsenic, but found them pure. Then I tried the solution from the stomach, which resulted in procuring well marked indications of arsenic in a ring of peculiar color, formed on a porcelain plate, which, with the other experiments, proved the presence of arsenic in the contents of the stomach given to me for examination. I went through Marsh's test twice, with similar results in each case. In proving March's test I took distilled water and two grains of pure arsenic; used half of this in making a trial test, and the result produced nearly as much of the peculiar steel color, indicating the presence of arsenic, as had been produced from the contents of the stomach. From my experiments, I am convinced of the presence of arsenic in the contents I examined.

This witness was not cross-examined.

CORROBORATING TESTIMONY.

Michael Zimmerman, sworn—Am a medical student of Dr. Bredin's. Have been reading medicine over two years, and have attended one course of lectures in New York. Was in town the day Jacob Shugart died. Gabriel Etzel and Leonard Wise requested us (witness and Dr. Bredin) to go to the graveyard and make a post mortem examination on the body of Jacob Shugart. Dr. Bredin and I met at the graveyard and proceeded with the business. The gravedigger had commenced to fill up the grave, but he took out the dirt and we took out the coffin.

The witness then proceeded to give an account of the post mortem examination, and the chemical experiments made by Dr. Bredin, at which he was present. His testimony was corroborative of that given by the Doctor. He was not cross-examined.

H. J. Berg, Jr., sworn.—Am a partner with Dr. Graham in a drug store; delivered a portion of the contents of Jacob Shugart's stomach to Dr. Graham; it was given me by Dr. Bredin at his office, where I had gone to get it; I brought it away in a bottle.

Dr. Bredin, recalled.—I delivered part of the contents of Jacob Shugart's stomach to H. J. Berg, Jr.

A PITTSBURGH CHEMIST ON THE STAND.

Prof. Otto Wuth, sworn—Reside in Pittsburgh. Have been for many years an analytical chemist. Studied at Heidelberg, Germany, four years; was in the laboratory of Professor Frascenius at Weisbaden; was five years in a chemical establishment at Natrona, about twenty miles from Butler. For five years have had an establishment in Pittsburgh, and have practiced analytical chemistry exclusively as a business. Received from Dr. Bredin and W. H. H. Riddle, Esq., on or about the 25th of November, 1868, a portion of what was said to be the contents of the stomach of Jacob Shugart. It was a glass jar, which was corked and sealed. Mr. Riddle, whom I understood to be District Attorney of Butler county, requested me to make a thorough analysis of the same, with a view of ascertaining whether it contained poison or not. Dr. Bredin told me of the symptoms under which Mr. Shugart died, and said he believed it to be death from poisoning by arsenic, as he had made an analysis himself and found arsenic. I did as requested. The whole part I got weighed eight ounces. Was informed that an indictment was pending against a person for the murder of Shugart by means of poison. In cases of suspected poisoning it is the duty of the chemist to determine first the character and then the quantity of the poison. In doing this there are only five tests which are admissible. The tests must be delicate and characteristic, so as to admit of no doubt. In cases of suspected poisoning by arsenic only those tests are proper which separate the arsenic from the solution in its natural state. Of these there are five only. The first is the one by which the arsenic is reduced from arsenic acid by charcoal. The second is a similar test, but instead of producing the arsenic with charcoal the arsenious acid or the compound is mixed with cyanid of potassium. The other three are called by the names of their discoverers, Reinsh's, Marsh's, and Frascenious. Dr. Bredin explained the first one in his testimony yesterday.

The witness here explained at length the different tests and the mode of conducting them.

AN INFALLIBLE PROCESS.

The witness, after describing the first three tests, which he did not consider sufficiently delicate for such an important case, went on to say: Marsh's test is the most delicate for arsenic, and if applied correctly can leave no doubt. It is based upon the fact that if metallic zinc and oil of vitroil are put in a flask the acid (vitroil) dissolves the zinc and the hydrogen gas passes off. After this hydrogen has been deprived of moisture, if lighted, it burns with a colorless flame. This hydrogen, when passed through a glass tube, heated, leaves no deposit, if it be free from arsenic. If, however, the hydrogen contains arsenic, while passing through the tube that arsenic will settle on the coolest part, while the gas passes off. There is a still more delicate part of this process which makes the arsenic appear in the tube more certainly, the success of which depends on a proper test of the chemicals by the aid of nitric acid. This process also detects antimony as well as arsenic. Antimony, except to one experienced, could not be distinguished from arsenic. In this test, if arsenic is produced it remains visible but a minute. If antimony, several hours. There are other tests, but this is perfectly satisfactory and reliable in every case. I tried Marsh's test in this case. [He here exhibited the result of his investigations in several small tubes containing the arsenic secured from the substance received by him.]

The last test I tried was Frascenius'. By it the organic matter is destroyed to a great extent by metallic acid and chloride of potash. By adding gradually the contents of the stomach, at a temperature below the boiling point, the organic matter is often destroyed. It is then heated until the odor of free chloride is no more perceptible. The water is now reduced by sulphate of soda, cooled, filtered and put through other processes. This takes several days. The filtered paper and the organic matter are now exposed to heat of about 180 degrees until the matter is in the shape of charcoal. This is then compounded with muriatic acid and water, when the arsenic matter is dissolved. This arsenic matter is again treated with a solution of sulphate of hydrogen, and if arsenic is in it, a bright yellow color will be deposited. [The witness described this process with great minuteness.] He found by the test that arsenic (as is the result always when it is present) was deposited in the tube, which satisfied him of the test and of the presence of arsenic in the stomach.

He was here interrupted, and the Court took the usual noon recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Court met at two o'clock. Three daughters of the prisoner, Mrs. Wise, Mrs. Loux and Miss Amelia Shugart, were present and occupied seats within the bar. They were dressed in deep mourning and for the greater part of the afternoon kept their faces veiled.

Prof. Wuth's examination continued—After the tests [described in the morning] I found that .448 or not quite one-half a grain of common arsenic had been extracted from the eight ounces of substance given me for examination. As a proof that the chemicals used were pure, I took twice the quantity I had used in experimenting upon the portion given me, and analyzed them. Not a particle of arsenic was discovered. I also was very careful to have the apparatus used perfectly clean by using caustic soda and clean water in scouring them. I put one-half through Marsh's test, to determine the quality, and the other through Frascenius' to determine quantity. When a person is poisoned, it is the part absorbed which causes death. From my experiments I am satisfied of the presence of arsenic in the substance said to be a portion of the stomach of Jacob Shugart. [The witness exhibited the arsenic he had extracted.]

By the Court—I applied the tests described, and these things I am now exhibiting are the results.

Cross-examined.—It would take a long time for poison to dissolve in water unless it was shaken. If a man died to-day, in examining his stomach the day after to-morrow I would expect to find crystals; globules might sometimes be found in the stomach, that would look to the naked eye like arsenic. The quantity found would be no criterion of that taken, as a portion would pass off in the vomiting and purging. It is always supposed when the stomach of a dead person has been found to contain arsenic, that death resulted from the arsenic. I have known of cases where grains of arsenic were not found. The Lane case was an example, and also the Grinder case. Sometimes people will not die from the effects of a half a grain, and others could take two or two and a half before death would ensue. Casper, an eminent medical writer, thinks two grains sufficient to produce death in the average. Van Haslett estimates the dose at two or three grains; Taylor two and a half to three.

Dr. A. M. Lyman, a practising Physician in Butler, next testified as to the general symptoms following poisoning.

ILLNESS OF DECEASED—HIS OWN ACCOUNT.

Joseph Balph, sworn—Knew Jacob Shugart for about twenty years. On the twentieth of October, 1868, I was coming into this place on business. Near the old fair ground, a few rods below where the roads meet, and in full view of town, (I was driving along in a two horse buggy,) I saw a man walking ahead of me on the road. It must have been about half past twelve o'clock; came up with him, when he requeated me to take him into my buggy, as he was not able to walk home. He said he had taken very sick in the field.

Mr. Thompson objected to the examination of the witness, unless what was proposed to be proved was stated.

Mr. McCandless said the Commonwealth proposed to prove that the deceased was the man who got into the buggy; that he was taken home; that he talked of being sick, and of the cause of his sickness. Objection withdrawn.

Examination continued—I asked him when he took unwell. He said he had been unwell the night before. I then remarked to him he should not have went out to work. He said he was better in the morning, and felt pretty well until his little daughter brought him out his dinner. He said he took a couple of bites or sups, when he got very sick. He did not say what his dinner was. He showed me in town the place he lived. As we were driving along he said he was still getting worse, and at one time said things were all flying between his eyes. About half way between where I first noticed him and the town, I saw a little girl walking along near Mr. Barclay's, toward town, and carrying something. He said that was his little girl that had brought him his dinner. I think he said no more until I let him out at his own door. When I stopped at the door he said he did not know whether he was able to get out without assistance. He then said something in German, or in such a way that I did not understand it. There was a woman standing in the door, to whom I think he spoke. The woman I think was the one there with the Skaker bonnet on, [pointing to the prisoner. The prisoner nodded her head and said, "Yes it was me."]

I did not know the woman at the time. I then got out of the buggy. Helped Shugart out and got him on his feet. The woman, standing by, said to him, "My God, did I not tell you you ought not to go to work this morning?" By the time he got out of the buggy she was out in the street and helped him into the house, making the same exclamation several times, and once adding, "Did I not tell you not to go?" This was all I saw of Shugart. When I first noticed the woman was when we first came in view of the house. She was looking towards us. He used the exclamation as we were coming along, "Oh, I am so sick; every thing is getting blue before my eyes." He moaned very little along the road.

By the Court—When I saw him he looked very pale and prostrated.

By Counsel—He looked shrunk and pinched. He appeared very stupid. Said nothing of having thrown up anything in the field.

Question—Did he seem to attribute his sickness to—

Mr. Thompson—We object.

By the Court—This would only be an inference and the objection is proper.

Cross-examined—I was not known by any of the family except Mr. Shugart.

HIS CONDITION IN THE MORNING.

Christian Fleeger, sworn—I live in Butler; am a laboring man; was acquainted with Jacob Shugart. On the 20th of October was working in a field of corn owned by Mrs. Groutt. I was husking corn for Mr. Miller; my son George was helping me. Mr. Shugart was working in the same field, at the upper end. He came out in the morning, after the bell in town had rung for nine o'clock. We had a little talk together. He said he felt "first rate." He was working in the field the week before and looked and worked well enough. That morning he husked four shocks and began on the fifth. He seemed to work well enough. About the time the whistle in town sounded for noon his little girl came out with his dinner. I don't know the name of the little girl. She had a little tin bucket and something tied in a handkerchief.

HIS LAST MEAL.

He took the articles and began immediately to eat; he ate a good bit; seemed to eat as if he had an appetite. He was in full view of me all the time. I could have seen him if he had put anything in the bucket. When he had finished eating he put the bucket aside and went back to the shock he had first husked. I then went home to my dinner. While he was eating his dinner the little girl was engaged in husking at one of the shocks. Went back immediately after eating dinner. Mr. Shugart was gone from the field when we got back. While we were away he tied up the four shocks as corn-fodder. I saw nothing more of him. He must have come away soon after we left.

Cross-examined—I was about fifteen or twenty rods away from Shugart when the little girl brought him his dinner.

THE FLORAL FAIR.

The Floral Fair, which has been the excitement in amusement circles during the week, closed last evening with interesting literary exercises. The address of Mr. John Q. A. Sullivan, on the subject of "Flowers," delivered by invitation, was an elegant and appropriate composition, containing many original and happy thoughts, and expressed in language which made a fine impression upon the hearers. At its conclusion Capt. Lyon, (to whom, in a great measure, the success of the Fair is justly attributed,) read a short but beautiful poem, especially prepared for the occasion by Mr. McClure, a talented young member of the legal fraternity here. The exercises were concluded by the reading of a lengthy list of premiums which had been awarded, and which, so far as we could learn, gave the greatest satisfaction. The remainder of the evening was spent in mirth, music and promenading, which closed the entertainment. It is said to be the most successful gathering of the kind ever had in Butler, a feeling in which the people of the town join as heartily as those more directly interested. The effect will doubtless be visible hereafter, in developing a greater love for that beautiful and fascinating branch of knowledge—Horticulture,—which is the object of the Farmers Institute.

OBITUARY.

Death of J. W. Barker, Esq.

We are pained to announce the death, from apoplexy, of J. W. Barker, Esq. which took place at his residence at Rahway, New Jersey, on Saturday morning, the 26th instant, at four o'clock. Mr. Barker has been well known in these cities for about eleven years as one of our most enterprising and successful dry goods merchants, and, as he endeared himself, during his residence amongst us, to a large circle of our fellow citizens by his bland and genial manners, his uprightness and honesty in commercial transactions, his Christian liberality and generous hospitality, the announcement of his death will be, indeed, sad intelligence to many of our readers.

Mr. Barker was born at White Plains, West Chester county, New York, on the 5th of December, 1815, and was therefore in the 54th year of his age. He entered the dry goods house of Nathaniel Mead, Grand street, New York, when he was only thirteen years of age. Seven years afterwards he opened a store of his own in the same street and did a very flourishing business.

In 1841 he sold out to his brother and opened an establishment in Catharine street, New York, which was carried on in active rivalry with the house of Lord & Taylor. He associated one of his clerks as partner with him in the concern, and the house of Barker & Towle was well known as one of the most extensive and popular retail dry goods establishments in the city of New York. So successful was Mr. Barker in business that he retired with an ample fortune in 1851.

He then entered the arena of politics in which, pecuniarly, he did not succeed so well. He was the opposition candidate to Fernando Wood for the Mayoralty of New York city, but was defeated, fraudulently it was alleged, by a few hundred votes. We believe Fernando said to him on one occasion, "Mr. Barker you are entirely too kind-hearted and honorable to make a successful politician." This was no small compliment, and in our opinion, it was the truth. We never knew a more kind-hearted or honorable gentleman. He never laid aside the gentleman when engaged in the warmest discussion, with political opponents.

In the latter end of the year 1858 or beginning of 1859, Mr. Barker came to Pittsburgh and engaged again in the dry goods business, in which, as most of our readers know, he was eminently successful. His history here is so well known that we need not record it. No man was more highly thought of in business and social circles.

A few years ago he went back to New York and purchased a splendid mansion on Lexington avenue. There he resided almost constantly, and acted as the eastern purchaser of the house here, which he only visited once or twice a year. The business having been well established here, Mr. Barker, some time since, relinquished his place in the firm, and his son, J. W. Barker, Jr., who seems to inherit his business tact and all his noble qualities, became the senior partner, and eastern purchaser of the house.

Mr. Barker being now released from active business life, was strongly importuned to take the Presidency of "The Eclectic Life Insurance Company of New York City," to which he was unanimously elected, and which prospered greatly under his management. As his duties as President of the Insurance Company did not require him to be in the city early in the morning or late at night, he purchased a beautiful place in Rahway, New Jersey, to which he removed last spring, and in which he terminated his earthly existence on Saturday last, rather suddenly, but not altogether unexpectedly.

The circumstances in which his death was received were peculiarly trying. His son, J. W. Barker, Jr., who, as we have said, is now the senior partner of the firm in this city, and resides for the most part in the East, acting as eastern purchaser for the houses on Market and St. Clair streets, had just arrived from New York on Saturday morning, when he received a telegram containing the sad and melancholy tidings. In company with A. D. McKee, Esq., one of the partners, and Mr. John Fullerton, he returned at once to Rahway in the Cincinnati Express, which leaves the Union Depot at 12:30.

In the absence of those who could give us more minute information in relation to the life and virtues of Mr. Barker, we present to our readers the above imperfect sketch. He was, indeed, a remarkable man, and his success, taking into account all the circumstances of his case, was almost unprecedented.

Mr. Barker leaves a wife and two children, we believe, together with a large circle of relatives, to mourn his loss. We tender to them our deepest sympathies in their sad and distressing bereavement.

From a dispatch received by his friends in this city, yesterday, we learn that Mr. Barker lived only thirty minutes after he was attacked with the disease. He was conscious almost to the moment of dissolution. His last words were, "I am resigned, and not afraid to die."

His funeral will take place on next Wednesday.

Death of John Quinn, Esq.

The above named gentleman, a member of Select Council, and an esteemed and worthy citizen, died at his residence, on Ross street, on Saturday afternoon, after a comparatively brief illness from severe cold, resulting in inflammation of the lungs. The deceased came to this city in 1826, when a lad of ten summers. After receiving fair education, to fit himself for the active duties of life, he entered business as a building contractor. His strict honesty, moral uprightness and high toned, honorable character, won for him a large share of public confidence and patronage, and he rapidly amassed a handsome competence. Some years ago he retired from active business life, but continued to devote himself to operations in real estate and such other employments as proved congenial to his tastes. For many years, not consecutive however, he represented the old Third Ward in the Select branch of the City Councils, a position which he filled with credit to himself and his constituency. He was a gentleman of large understanding, honest purpose, dignified bearing, and, while firm and unyielding in opposition to that which he thought wrong, he was ever willing to embrace a course he held to be right careless as to what might follow his action as a political or financial consequence to himself personally.

His funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock, proceed from his residence to St. Pauls' Cathedral and from thence to St. Mary's Cemetery. The members of Councils will doubtless be present to pay a last mark of respect to their highly appreciated and raspected fellow-member.

Death of Mr. A. S. Gallagher.

This gentleman, cashier and general financier of the American Iron Works of Jones & Laughlin, died suddenly at the Monongahela House on Saturday. He had been complaining a week previous of erysipelas, but none of his friends imagined that death was so close. He was a clever gentleman and respected by all who knew him. He will be buried to-day in Steubenville.

Sharp Practice.

On Saturday evening a young man of prepossessing appearance entered a wholesale liquor store on Fifth avenue, about the time the proprietor was closing up, under the pretence of wanting a bottle of whisky. The proprietor said that he was about closing up and did not wish to go to the cellar for it, but the customer said it would be a great accommodation, and the dealer consented to get it for him. He started to the cellar and shortly afterwards returned with the liquor, but his customer had departed, and upon examination it was found that he had taken with him a pocketbook containing fifty dollars which the whisky dealer had left in a drawer. He has not been heard of since.
